ALDERMEN MEET LOOK LIKE CHANLER

Two Young Men Charged With Want Ambassador Hill for Breaking and Entering Governor of New York

Democrats May Name Him For Governor of New York

George Roy and Henry Poirier, aged 18 years, broke into the store conducted by Michael Haganian in Mont-nack street, near Suffolk street, this morning, and stole a quantity of cigars, tobacco and candy. About half an hour after the break, however, they were in the clutches of Patrolman John N. Welch. They were arraigned in police court this morning and held under $300 bonds for their appearance before the grand jury.

An entrance was effected through a side window about 4.30 o'clock this morning, and when the couple got inside they proceeded to break open the safe. They were arrested by Patrolman John N. Welch, who held them under $300 bonds for their appearance before the grand jury.

After leaving the store the young burglars separated, Poirier taking the loot with him to his room in the Essex house while Roy went to a house in Salem street.

Almost immediately after the break was made Patrolman Welch found the window open. His suspicion was directed to the above mentioned young men, and going to the Essex house he questioned Poirier about the break and succeeded in locating the loot. Poirier was placed under arrest and ten minutes later Roy was also arrested.

Tried to End His Life

Edward Connahan who has spent the greater part of his life in jails and poor farms, was arrested yesterday for being drunk, and late in the afternoon made two unsuccessful attempts to end his life in the cell he occupied.

Connahan gives his residence as Providence, R. I., but the police are of the opinion that any place he hangs his hat is home, sweet home.

About 5.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon Keeper Whitaker, in making his rounds, discovered the man tearing at his trousers and tying them in strips for the purpose, so he said, of hanging himself. A half-hour later when the keeper was passing the man's cell it was found that he had torn both of his shirts into strips and was about to end his life by hanging himself.

Connahan was taken from his cell and placed in the charge of a constable, but said he did not remember of having tried to commit suicide. He acknowledged that he had been confined in various institutions, including jails and poor farms, and that recently he was an inmate of the Tewksbury almshouse. He also acknowledged that he was the same Connahan who a couple of months ago was held $5 for walking on the railroad tracks of the Boston & Maine. He was sent to the state farm.

Stole A Monkey Wrench

Richard F. Jordan, a short cutter hailing from one of the small towns in Maine, came to this city the other

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 15.—An hour's development might easily change the status of affairs in regard to the nomination of governor to be made today by the republican convention.

A conference of state leaders representing both the Hughes and the anti-Hughes wing of the convention, adjourned in the early hours of the morning after a protracted discussion of the nomination of governor. Practically all of the influential leaders were present at this gathering, the net result of which was an adjournment to meet again this forenoon and a more or less friendly agreement that in the interval the nomination for governor should be offered to a man regarded as killing the needs of the situation, at least by those opposed to the re-nomination of Gov. Hughes. The name of this man was not divulged.

That the leaders in the van of the pro-Hughes movement had little confidence in the acceptance by this man of the proffer of the nomination was clear from the fact that Herbert Parsons, leader of the New York county delegation who is definitely committed to the support of Gov. Hughes said as he left the conference:

"I am still of the opinion that Gov. Hughes will be re-nominated and I think it will be upon the first ballot."

Those present in the meeting over which Timothy L. Woodruff, as chairman of the state committee, presided, included Secretary of State Root who is acting as chairman of the state convention, ex-Governor Odell, Jr.; National Committeeman William L. Ward; Speaker James Wadsworth, Jr.; and Senator Horace White of Syracuse, all of these last being leading candidates as opposed to Gov. Hughes; Senator Leader John Baines; former State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks; former Railroad Commissioner G. W. Aldridge; Reps. Fassett, Parsons and Mulby; William Barnes, Jr. of Albany; Postmaster Geigner of Buffalo and William Berri of Brooklyn.

Root Declines

In this conference there came to a head the most urgent effort of the opposition to prevent the nomination of Gov. Hughes. At no time has there been any question of the ability of the governor if it could unite on any single candidate who would accept the nomination. The efforts made yesterday to induce Sec. Root to accept the nomination were made yesterday afternoon. But Mr. Root told the conference that he could not for a moment consider such a proposition.

"If I should do such a thing," said he in substance, "I should be accused and rightly as senior member of the cabinet, of disloyalty to President Roosevelt and he would be accused and with much justification, of insincerity in his declaration of long ago and reiterated today of his emphatic desire for the re-nomination of Gov. Hughes."

He said further that Alecksopolous held him.

It was agreed that Clerk Trull would testify substantially as did Mr. Demaris and he was not placed on the stand.

Lawyer Donahue then demanded that the government produce the written statement taken at the death bed but Asst. Dist. Attorney Wier did not have it. Clerk Trull, however, produced notes taken at the time.

During the forenoon recess Henry Cook, who pleaded guilty of breaking and entering the building of the Standard Oil company was placed on probation.

John Marcotte pleaded guilty of assault and paid a fine of $25.

Fred Jeffrey pleaded guilty of larceny and was placed on probation.

Secretary Root having been thus definitely removed from the situation, left the conference and left the leaders face to face with a problem the solution of which they admitted was the next thing to impossible.

When the conference adjourned the difficulty of finding some one to take the nomination in Gov. Hughes' stead had apparently not been diminished and even those most desirous of securing the consent of "some real, good man" to take the nomination professed little confidence in their success.

Discussion of the rest of the ticket had not been reached by the conference. Nor was there any discussion of the platform. Both of these matters were regarded as decidedly subsidiary to the main question of whether the organization must after all accept Hughes. It was the expressed opinion of almost everybody at the conference, with the possible exception of Secretary Root, who was quoted on the subject, that Gov. Hughes would not be elected in November. Beyond a doubt that is the honest belief of many of the republican politicians in the state. Apart from the personal antipathy of many of the leaders toward Gov. Hughes this was one of the arguments against the governor's re-nomination upon which practically all those present at this conference were agreed.

Hill the Man

Late in the morning, it was learned that Dr. D. J. Hill of Rochester, ambassador of the United States to Germany, is the man whom the anti-Hughes leaders have decided upon for their candidate to oppose to Gov. Hughes. They were slow in getting along this morning, having been in conference until about 3 o'clock, and developments were tardy.

The story the anti-Hughes men were telling as they began to get about was that Hill could certainly be nominated, "unless."

By "unless" they admitted that they meant "unless there is irresistible interference from national headquarters, President Roosevelt, the republican national committee and Mr. Taft."

Dr. Hill's name was suggested, it is said, by State Committeeman Aldrich of Monroe. Very few people could be found this morning who really believed that Dr. Hill could or would actually be nominated. There were many signs that the latest plan of the leaders constructed with Dr. Hill as the corner stone represented probably their last stand and that if defeated there they would accept their defeat as gracefully as they could.

By 11 o'clock the conviction was widespread that the opposition had gone to pieces and while there might still be some who would be continued efforts up to the last minute to find some one upon whom to unite the battle was really over. The anti-Hughes "allies" were the air of beaten men.

It was stated on authority that no cablegram had been sent to Dr. Hill and that therefore no answer was expected.

COST HIM $10

MAN WAS FOUND IN THE SERVANT'S ROOM

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Dr. S. Evans, the intercollegiate golf champion of Boston for two years, who lives at 352 Bay State road, Boston, and John T. Kelly of 203 Berkeley place, Brooklyn, were arrested at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in the home of Oscar Richards, the banker, at 45 East Seventy-second street. The two young men are friends of Harold Richards, a son of the banker.

Evans, who is 20 years old, said that he was a member of the class of '11, Amherst. The two young men had been on a yacht cruise with the banker's son and he invited them to stay with him for a few days, the rest of the family being in Europe.

He was not at home when the two went to the house late Sunday night, but the two women servants in the house knew they were expected and showed them to their room.

"I was in bed when the door opened and in walks Mr. Kelly," Anna Swanson, a servant, said to Magistrate Wable in the Yorkville police court yesterday morning. "He was smoking a cigarette and he offered me one. I told him I did not smoke and he gave me a dollar. I screamed and Bridget Murtha, the maid, put her head out of the window and called a policeman."

Kelly said he did not intend to frighten the woman. His watch had stopped and knowing there was an alarm clock in the servant's room he went there to see what time it was, he explained.

"Why did you offer her a cigarette?" the court asked him.

"I have no recollection of doing so," he said.

The magistrate fined him $10 and discharged Evans, who went to Garden City and qualified in the golf championships.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE

On Trial Before Judge Lawton in Superior Court Today

George Alecksopolous Charged With Causing Death of John Paraskevacos Claims That Another Man Gave the Fatal Blow and Produces Victim's Ante-Mortem Statement

An ugly looking knife with a double edged blade some six inches long and a lot of blood-stained underclothing gave a gruesome aspect to the superior court room this morning when the case of George Alecksopolous, indicted for manslaughter and assault with a dangerous weapon, the victim being John Paraskevacos, who died at the Lowell General hospital August 15, as the result of a knife wound received on August 12 in Fenwick street in a fight with the defendant and another man named Benarkis, who has never been apprehended.

Several witnesses with unimpeachable names testified that Alecksopolous struck Paraskevacos with an umbrella held in his right hand while he held a knife, which was produced in court, in his left hand, that he stabbed Paraskevacos and afterward kicked him and also that Benarkis had a knife and took part in the stabbing. One of the witnesses testified that he grabbed Benarkis by the hand that held the knife and Benarkis cried to Alecksopolous "Give it to him, Sport," whereupon he claims Alecksopolous stabbed him and he showed a torn coat in corroboration of his statement.

Prof. Latros officiated as interpreter. In the case, six or seven times, there appeared to be unusual interest in the case.

Lawyer Donahue, who appeared for the defendant, in his opening remarks stated that the defense would endeavor to introduce an ante-mortem statement made by the dying boy to the clerk of police court and by another Greek interpreter to the effect that Benarkis and not Alecksopolous gave him the knife wound. Alecksopolous, his counsel claimed, was one of the men attracted to the scene by the fight between Benarkis and Paraskevacos, and as he arrived Benarkis cried to him: "Save me they are killing me!" Alecksopolous then struck the man who was holding Benarkis but did not strike Paraskevacos.

Harry Demaris, Greek constable and interpreter testified that at 2 o'clock on the morning of August 15 he went to the Lowell General hospital with Clerk Trull of the police court and the defendant, Paraskevacos was dying but was conscious. In response to questions Paraskevacos said that Benarkis did the stabbing and that Alecksopolous did not stab but struck and kicked him and called him "an

WANTS DIVORCE

PRINCE DE BROGLIE TO SUE HIS WIFE.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Prince Robert de Broglie whose matrimonial tribulations in 1906 were ventilated in France and the United States has abandoned his wife and child and his lawyer has announced the intention of the prince to bring an action for divorce on the ground of adultery.

The Princess de Broglie is an American woman. Her maiden name was Estelle Alexander and she lived in San Francisco. She was the divorced wife of Sidney Beitt when she married the prince in Chicago in 1906. The prince's father had the Chicago marriage declared void by a French court. The prince then remarried Miss Alexander under the French law.

When the princess was seen at her home today she was intensely indignant on what she characterized as the "slandering" of her husband. She said that the charge of adultery was baseless. The princess described her position as a "savage" and a "penny" to support herself and baby. Her only hope is to secure an engagement on the stage.

Can Abolish War Says Carnegie

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Andrew Carnegie has written a letter from Skibo castle, Scotland, to Rep. Richard Blandin of Missouri, president of the American group of the inter-parliamentary union, which convenes in this city Sept. 15, in which he says:

"I cannot escape the conclusion that the abolition of war among civilized nations as a mode of settling international disputes is very easily accomplished. There will be one man in Berlin whose congress is in session who has only to speak the word. The emperor of Germany has it in his power to abolish war among civilized nations. All he has to do is to ask Great Britain, France and the United States to unite with him in declaring that since the world has contracted to a 'neighborhood,' and is in constant and instantaneous communication one part with another, the inter-ference of products between them amounting to thousands of millions a year, the time has passed when any civilized nation can be permitted to break that peace in which all are so deeply interested. Internal disputes must be settled by arbitration."

Number of the three countries named could afford to reject this invitation, and a conference would have performed a service to the world unapproached by any human being that ever lived."

"Whether his majesty is to find in this great mission and pass into history as one of a long line of rulers not men of achievements but only of title, or to awake some morning to his duty and perform his duties as a man, I cannot tell. I shall have that the angel of the Lord will appear unto him."

THE LIQUOR LAW FOUR LIVES LOST

The Total Abstinence League Wants Change

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—As a first important step in the campaign for temperance, the Massachusetts Total Abstinence League will wage a determined fight against the present system of dividing the license fees, by which a part of the money received from the liquor dealers is turned over to the towns.

The society met yesterday to plan for the winter, and all the officers and directors of the society strongly favored an immediate change in the law in this respect. They assert that the practice of delivering a portion of the license fees to the towns is a great inducement for the liquor traffic to increase, and that the liquor traffic receives a strong impetus by the plan.

The society believes that if the entire proceeds of the license fees were reserved for the state without reservation, the flow to the liquor traffic would be heavily felt.

The issue will be brought before the legislature as soon as possible, and the league will secure the best counsel obtainable in the hope of pushing the matter through to a successful conclusion.

Among those present at the meeting yesterday were Senator Prouty of Spencer, the Rev. Alfred Neen, Charles E. Demott and T. H. Raymond. Senator Prouty spoke of the better conditions in Worcester under no license, while the others discussed the matter of the license fees.

THE SUBMARINES

To Be Submerged for 48 Hours

SEVERAL SUBMARINES GOING TO MANILA

After a Series of Secret Tests Demonstrating Their Worth—The Newport Test the Severe on Record

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 15.—Delayed two hours by a northeast gale, which kicked up a choppy sea, during the early morning, the torpedo boat and destroyer flotilla sailed away from this port yesterday, under orders to proceed direct to Newport, where the government has arranged for one of the most important submarine tests ever conducted in American waters.

It is planned to submerge the entire fleet of submarine boats on the mile line at Newport for 48 hours, which if successfully accomplished will be one of the longest and severest tests in the history of the United States navy. The performance will, therefore, be watched with widespread interest in naval circles not only in this but other countries.

The Octopus, the Plunger, the Tarantula, the Viper and the Cuttlefish will be buried two days and two nights and in them in the endurance experiment for the sake of the advancement of the war science will be 34 men. The compressed air tanks are generally equipped with only a sufficient supply to last 24 hours, but this test will demand a double supply.

It is estimated that the longest any submarine boat could possibly remain below the surface with one charging air would be 75 hours, and nothing as long as the 48-hour stretch has ever before been attempted. It is a matter of conjecture, therefore, just how the boats will act and how the men will stand it.

The Hist, which serves as tender to the second torpedo flotilla, was the first to get away, and she was followed by the destroyers Sprigman, Kingey, Baney, Delong and Thornton. Next to depart were the submarines and the "Mother Ship" Yankee was the last to weigh anchor.

The first torpedo flotilla remained in port. The Plunger was unable to proceed to Newport because of a recent mishap. She is at Immigration dock. The entire fleet had been here a fortnight.

It is reported that in addition to the endurance test the fleet will be inspected by the admiral.

It is known outside navy circles that the tests are being made with a view to rushing a squadron of the odd little vessels to Manila. Naval experts declare that the submarines can be towed any distance, as they can be sealed up and made unobtainable. The submarines now in the far east were sent across the Pacific on the deck of a vessel. This illustration shows the Octopus, the Viper and the Tarantula, three vessels of the very latest type of "diving warships." All three of these are scheduled for the Manila trip.

COTTON INDUSTRY

Shows Marked Improvement in New England

IN RAW MATERIAL AND FINISHED GOODS

Things of a Disquieting Nature Have Been Removed—Good Market Expected Within Next Four Weeks—Textile Machine Makers Report Improvement in Their Market

The following indications of material improvement in the New England mill situation is from "Cotton" for September and is of a decidedly encouraging nature:

During the past month there have been developments in the economic situation of the cotton industry in New England that are strongly indicative of a material improvement in the market for both raw materials and finished goods. Events of a disquieting nature that have been hanging over the industry for months have been removed, and there is a general feeling among the more conservative textile interests, that there will be a better market for goods within the next four weeks.

The auction sales of napped goods for the Nashua mills and the Arlington sale have removed an accumulation of fabrics that has caused the trade a great deal of anxiety. While it is claimed that the sale of the Nashua goods was merely to re-establish trade marks, the real facts of the case are that there was a heavy accumulation of napped fabrics that had to be moved and a sacrifice of from 10 to 60 per cent was far more desirable than interest carrying charges. It is understood that the Nashua mills are going to ease up on certain lines of napped fabrics until conditions are materially changed.

The general market for cotton fabrics is limited, and while the sheets which appear to be well taken, although at low prices. There is no buying of fabrics for the Oriental trade and our exports to South America for the past month have been at a low point and confined to lightweight drills and colored cotton goods.

The market for yarns continues in an apathetic condition and prices soft. The break in the price of cotton on the New York exchange encourages spinners to believe that yarns will go slightly lower and then become firm, after weavers have covered their contracts, because of the operations of the law of supply and demand. Manufacturers of plush, carpets and men's wear are buying under the market for yarns and are taking a few lots at their own prices, so yarn mills continue.

Textile machine makers report quite an improvement in their market during the past few weeks, and note a tendency on the part of careful manufacturers to purchase new machinery at prevailing prices, which are from 10 to 25 per cent lower than a year ago. The Draper company is receiving quite a number of new orders from local mills that are making extensions to their plants. Orders that were placed a year ago, and held up on delivery when the panic came, are now being ordered out.

The last two weeks in August and the first week in September was a general period of curtailment in New England. Fall River is running at a very low point and some of the larger mills, such as Amoskeag, Everett and Lancaster are closed down for two or three weeks vacation. This curtailment will have a splendid influence sentimentally and actually, since it will bring the trade face to face with the problem of bare shelves and no production. Not only will the curtailment have a good effect on the trade but it will stimulate labor, when the mills start up again, to a higher efficiency.

This month has been a month of correction, so to speak. Surplus goods have been marketed, curtailment put into effect and raw cotton reduced to a more favorable price from the standpoint of the consumer.

There have been a few sales of the standard textile securities this month, but in every case, with one exception, there have been advances scored in the market prices. Amoskeag, which has recently reduced its dividend, actually advanced from a previous quotation made when the stock was paying nearly double the dividend that it is now. Other prime cotton mill stocks have held firm with a tendency to advance, except Dwight, which has dropped over one hundred points from its last quotation, $1150. The drop is due to the selling under pressure and not to any adverse news affecting the mill property. There are few shares in the hands of brokers and the outlook is for higher prices for cotton stocks.

CROWD OF 25,000

Gathered to Hear Bryan Speak in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15.—William J. Bryan, yesterday for a second time claimed the attention of the voters of Maryland. He spoke twice, the first time at Annapolis, where he discussed the issues of the campaign, and last night in this city before an audience of 25,000 people. Mr. Bryan received an ovation seldom equalled in this city.

Governor Crothers, in his brief remarks, attacked President Roosevelt and charged him with being the most extravagant executive the country ever has known.

When Mr. Bryan stepped to the front of the platform, pandemonium reigned. The crowd rose, the music cheered and waved flags, the band playing "Dixie." Upon order being restored Mr. Bryan began his remarks.

He stated with emphasis that there was nothing in the democratic platform that need alarm any legitimate interest. Among other things he said: "The democratic platform differs from the republican platform in that our party distinctly declares what it opposes and what it favors. When you read the democratic platform you know exactly what to expect, for the two candidates are pledged to the platform. The republican platform is ambiguous and uncertain. When you get through reading it you are in the dark as to what the president will do."

Mr. Taft, he said, had already announced his platform in several particulars, but one knew what other amendments he might add before the election and what additions he might make to it after the election. When anyone came to construe the republican platform, he said, a guessing contest was entered into and no one could tell whose guess was nearest the truth. President Roosevelt, he declared, was elected upon a similar platform.

"And as his platform promises nothing in particular he felt at liberty to amend a number of the things which the republican leaders objected to."

The result was, he said, a constant conflict between the executive and congress.

Speaking of the policy of the democratic party, Mr. Bryan said that democrats believe that popular questions should be submitted to the public and that the decision of the public was binding on officials.

"As the republicans do not present specific propositions," he asserted, "a republican victory could not be construed as a declaration in favor of any particular reform or against any existing abuse."

BLOCKADED

Every Household in Lowell Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked. Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this. It's the best proof, for it comes from Lowell.

Miss Addie Bickford, living at 5 Franklin Court, Lowell, Mass., says: "I had dull backaches for some time, and after suffering from pains in the region of my kidneys, the source of most annoyance, however, was the too frequent action of the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured from Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store, banished the backache and entirely rid me of the kidney difficulty. I then induced my mother to try the remedy for her back and she was gratified to find prompt relief through its use. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to several of my friends, who have used them with the same beneficial results."

BIG SENSATION

To Be Sprung by Mayor of Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Sept. 15.—The aldermen last night refused to supply an emergency appropriation for continuing the street and public property departments, which the mayor shut down Saturday.

This is taken as substantiation of the belief that the mayor is about to spring a sensation in regard to the street department, concerning which it is said several conferences have been held by him with Dist. Atty. Peters and the police.

A large crowd was on hand at the meeting of the aldermen, including many of the employees who are now without positions, and considerable pressure was brought to bear on the aldermen, none of whom would explain what transpired behind the closed doors. After the meeting one of the aldermen remarked that developments would show the cause of their refusal to supply an emergency appropriation. Mayor Kane refused to say anything on the subject.

MORE MORMONS

100 EXPECTED TO REACH BOSTON NEXT SUNDAY.

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—More than 100 Mormon converts are believed to be in the second cabin of the steamship Republic from Liverpool, due to arrive in Boston next Sunday.

From a reliable source it was learned yesterday that these converts were booked to sail from England on this liner some time ago.

"There will be no more wholesale holdings of Mormon converts," said Col. George B. Billings, commissioner of immigration in Boston.

"Senator Smoot has assured me that the Mormon church does not assist converts by paying their passage to the United States."

"The senator admitted, however, that wealthy individuals of the church sometimes advance money for transportation of converts and run their risk of getting it back again."

The Republic brings the largest passenger list of the year, there being 240 persons in that section of the ship. In the second cabin are 290, and steerage, 520.

IRON MARKET

NOT SO BUSY AS USUAL SAYS PITTSBURGH REPORT

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15.—Business in the entire pig iron market. The southern producers say they have a better line of business than any other section of the country. Inquiries for 1909 iron are not resulting in orders. Consumers believe the present low level of prices will be maintained. Producers say that conditions indicate that higher prices will come. The Empire company, opening a number of cast-iron furnaces, has advanced prices 50 cents per ton and asserts it has booked enough orders to take the entire output for the year. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company has got one of its furnaces in blast. The production of pig iron for August shows a decrease of 100,000 tons, which was greater than the output in June.

The car order placed by the Harborman line amounted to 100 steel underframes and 1000 all steel cars. There was a falling off in the buying of rails and track material. The Erie Railroad already has ordered $11,000,000 in improving its road.

Small structural contracts continue to be let, but many large ones are held up. If there is any readjustment, plate and bolts and bars will be included. There is no danger of a further cut in steel bars as the demand is growing.

Bar iron is in better demand in some parts of the country. The American Steel and Wire company's August bookings were the largest of the year, aggregating about 10,000 tons. Cast iron pipe makers received a number of orders during the week and bids are being taken for considerably more. The pipe and tube mills are working at about 70 per cent capacity. There is a port steady stream of orders for merchant pipe. No large pipe line contracts have been let during the week.

POLICE PUZZLED

Man With Bullet in Back Found in Central Park

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A well-dressed man, who looked to be of Spanish extraction, was found unconscious in Central Park just off the West Drive, near 10th street, at about 8 o'clock last night. Ambulance Surgeon Henson was summoned from Flower hospital, and took the man to the hospital. An hour later the hospital surgeons found a bullet wound in the back of the man's head, a hole to the right.

Just then, in charge of the Ambulance station, three detectives in search of the neighborhood where the man was found, but after a two-hour search the detectives had not found a revolver. While the wound might have been self-inflicted, the police considered when they failed to find a pistol that the man had been shot by some one else. Detectives waited at the hospital during first the wounded man would recover sufficiently to tell something about his wound. At about 11 o'clock he became conscious but he wasn't able to talk.

The man's clothing was of good quality and valuable jewelry was found in his pockets. The only clue to his identification was a business envelope bearing the name of Benito Fernandez, dealers in religious publications at 23 to 35 Barclay street. On this envelope was written a name that looked like Benito Fernandez, 10 East Twenty-second street.

A business card in the man's pocket contained the names Joaquín Toranzo, De Bino, Rapa Hachay, De Medida. Another card in Spanish referred to a publishing concern at 25 to 23 Broadway.

"NIGHT RIDERS"

ARE AT WORK IN ARKANSAS NOW

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 15.—An organization similar to the tobacco night riders of Tennessee and Kentucky has been formed in Arkansas to reduce the acreage of cotton next year and intimidate growers into holding this season's crop for the minimum price fixed by the farmers union at Fort Worth.

At Councils, one of the largest landowners in Craighead county was visited late last night. When he answered a knock at his door a voice in the dark warned him against planting too much cotton next year or selling this year's crop under price. Councils later heard horses going down the road. On the same night, William A. Winfield, a farmer renting eighty-five acres of land, was visited in the same way and was told that next year he must reduce his crop to half of that he cultivated this year.

Near morning a farmer hauling a load of cotton to Lake City was met on the road and told to take his cotton back home and hold it for the price set by the farmers union. He obeyed.

HE HAD A SHOCK
Thomas Tarbox, aged 50 years, and residing at 62 Middlesex street, was seized with an apoplectic shock at city hall about 8:30 o'clock this morning. The ambulance was summoned and the man was removed to St. John's hospital.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15.—Two speeches and a conference with Senator Crane of Massachusetts and Rep. Burton of Cleveland is the program of work for William H. Taft today on the day of his first anniversary of his birth. His first address will be delivered in the assembly room of the Synton hotel to a delegation of Greenfield, Ind. residents. This speech will be political in character. To the ministers of the African Methodist church tonight he will make a general address, non-political. A. A. No comment on the Maine election will be made here until the full returns have been received.

OUT FROM THIBET

Sven Hedin is Near Simla

SIMLA, Sept. 15.—Sven Hedin, the explorer, has reached Fegu, twelve miles distant from here. He is due to arrive here today.

He says he is enjoying fine health, but he looks thin and weatherworn. He has not had a day's illness and has not touched medicine in two years.

He has travelled 4000 miles, mostly in western Tibet, living on whatever he could get. During the time he did not smoke or drink liquor.

He says he has made wonderful discoveries, but he is keeping the intelligence thereof for his book.

This was Sven Hedin's third journey of exploration in Tibet. His explorations and discoveries in the early ones, practically the first revelations of the mysterious realm of the Dalai Lama, are well known to the public. The expedition now ending was undertaken in October, 1905. He entered by way of Kashmir, despite English official opposition, and crossed the great White Desert, or Ak-Sai-shan, a virgin white for adventurers.

Adventures from him last January, when he was at Nizamat-Tso, making for Chigatse, 10 miles west of Lhasa, told of the loss of his entire expedition, only his maps and notes being saved. The journey was one of the most perilous of his life.

He reported, however, the location of many new lakes, rivers and mountains. Some of the lakes were fresh, some salt. He found many important gold mines. He says the country is of extraordinary mineral richness. Gold prospectors go out from Lhasa, Tibet, to prospect and return richly from the deadly cold.

In July a portion of Hedin's party, having entered India and there was great alarm for his safety until it was explained that these were sick men he had sent on ahead while he finished his program.

REV. MR. DANIEL BEGIN PRACTICE

A Native of Kurdistan Lecturing in Lowell

STORY OF HIS EARLY LIFE IS TOLD

Only Eight Women Out of 5,000,000 People Can Read and Write—Marriage at Five Years of Age in Kurdistan

Rev. Dr. George Daniel, Ch. D., who is in Lowell in the interests of the Nestorian church in Kurdistan, will lecture at the Central Methodist church tonight and at the First Primitive Methodist church, corner of Gorham and Ellsworth streets, Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Friday evening he will speak at the Western Street Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock and at the Branch Street Baptist church, Highland hall, at 8:15.

Dr. Daniel will speak on the Life and Religion of the Mohammedan, the Catholic and Anglican of the Kurds, and the Nestorian, with the Marriage at five years of age, and the women being considered without soul, and the Christian Life and Work in Kurdistan and Persia.

Dr. Daniel will appear in the Mohammedan costume and sing national songs. The following is a short sketch of Dr. Daniel's life as told by himself:

"I was born in the district of Jin, Kurdistan, where my church is located," he said. "We have no schools there, but my father taught me the best he could. When I was 12 years old my father bought me a sword, dagger and pistol and taught me how to use them. At 11 I was ready to go out and fight against the neighboring tribes, and today as the result of these many battles with neighboring Kurds I carry at least twenty scars on my body and three bullet wounds in my leg which crippled me for life. You know we raise lots of cattle and sheep in our country and each tribe is always on the watch ready to seize the stock of the tribe nearby. We would make a raid on another tribe, seize the sheep and then start off. Perhaps the owners would get word of robbery and, all armed, would of course after us to recover their property. Then there would be a battle and the stronger force would win and keep the sheep as their own. Not only do the Kurds (I mean those who are not Christians) fight among themselves to rob and kill, but they waylay anyone who comes in their path.

"All the tribes are divided into right and left hand tribes. I was with the right hand tribes and today would not dare to go among certain of the left hand tribes, for there is deadly enmity between the two districts. Of the 500,000 Kurds in my country one-half live a nomadic life, sleeping in tents in the winter in the valley of Nineveh, and in the summer in the mountains. There is terrible butchery going on between the tribes still, and only two months ago I received word of battle in which 55 of our tribe were killed.

"Well, to return to my own personal experiences, after I had been leading the life of a fierce Kurd for a few years I met a man who told me about Christianity and I became so interested in it that I left my home and went to Persia where I studied four years in a preparatory school. Then I went to London where I took five years more of study and then went back to Kurdistan where I was ordained to preach. I am now acting as presiding elder with 17 villages and 16 churches under me. Our Nestorian church numbers about 8000 members in Kurdistan and Persia.

"My people need education badly for we have no schools in Kurdistan. There are only eight schools altogether in that country. Out of the 5,000,000 people of the land, only eight women can read and write."

Lowell High Boys Ready for Fray

Despite the fact that the high school opened but yesterday there is considerable talk already about the organization of the football team. Practice will be started tomorrow and Tom Mahoney will be in charge. There will be seven of the old faces in this year's lineup. Burke and Dodge, two of the fastest men who ever wore an "L" will be back in the game. Burke will play at center while Dodge will take his old position at quarterback. Lavigne and Legat, who alternated with Dodge in the latter position last year, will try for the position. At center, Kelsey, who played to the satisfaction of the rooters last year, in those games in which Burke was absent, will be a candidate, while Moore is also considered strong for that place.

At guard, Hunt, well known last year as a good clean punter, will probably be back in his old position, and "Jim" Rooney, captain of this year's aggregation, will play either guard or tackle.

Hyman, Donoghue and Bartlett, who played last year, will undoubtedly be back in the harness. The first game will be played October 3, with the Gloucester High school team. This game is to be played in Lowell. Other strong teams scheduled to play are as follows: October 17, Boston Latin school, at Lowell; October 27, Rindge Manual Training school, at Lowell; October 31, Roxbury High school, at Lowell; November 14, Lawrence at Glen Forest.

Y. M. C. I. Players
The Y. M. C. I. football team which made such an excellent record last year will hold a practice tonight at the Belvidere park and all players are requested to be present as there are but two weeks left to prepare for the opening game, which will be played at Haver, the 26th of this month.

The team has already put in three weeks' hard work and is in fairly good condition to repeat its performance of last year. Among the men who have been out to practice are the following: Al. Cooney, Joe Cooney, P. Sullivan, Duffy, H. Gerry, J. Grant, Kenyon, McSorley, Kenner, McOsker, H. Jewett, V. Jewett, Crafe, King, Pearson, Cudworth, McQuade, Stone, McCarthy and McGlone.

Football League
A meeting of the Lawrence-Lowell and District football league was held Sunday afternoon in Lawrence and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a concert and ball to be held in Lawrence during the latter part of the season.

Bitwistle was present and asked for his transfer in order that he might be able to play with the Methuens. The request was referred to the Bunting club.

The club colors this year will be as follows:
Bunting—Amber and black jerseys, white nickers; change, red shirts and blue nickers.
Billerica—White shirts, blue letters, black nickers.
Methuen—Blue shirts, white pants; change, red shirts.
Andover—Maroon and white nickers. Lawrence—Blue and white quarters, black nickers.

E. J. Richardson Trying to Fatten Up

Edward J. Richardson has not yet given Mayor Farinham his answer on the secretaryship question, but the mayor said today that he thought Mr. Richardson would accept the position as secretary to the mayor.

Asked if he expected Mr. Richardson at the mayor's office today, Edwards Cheney, who will be succeeded by Mr. Richardson, said that the latter had gone to the Point of Pines today to attend a barbecue.

It was suggested that Mr. Richardson was anxious to take on flesh and strength before assuming the arduous and laborious task of secretary to the chief executive.

PARK COMMISSION

Is Pushing the Work on Monument Square

Work on the improvement to Monument square is being pushed by the park commission, but it will be a slow job at best. The square was put to grade yesterday and today men are digging trenches to lay a foundation for the curbing. The foundation like the foundation to a house must be below the frost line.

DIAMOND NOTES

At Lynn today.
Lawrence still has a chance for that pennant. Everybody root for Lawrence.

Poor Izzy Van Zant! Worried over his failure in baseball undoubtedly unbalanced his mind. When playing center field for Nashua he was the idol of the town, and he then played big league ball with Van Zant and Larry Wilson entered business together in Nashua while both were playing in the upper circuit, and it was there that Van was married. Of the old Nashua bunch Tim Jordan is in the big league, Gene Gokey is living in Nashua, but is out of the games; the heavenly twins, Gus Soffel and Tony Pastor, are with Meriden, Conn.; Harry Wilson is with Lawrence, and Hil Henry Lubelle and Gus Dunn are delivering the goods with Lynn. "Dutch" Valdes is in the Southern league, and the rest have disappeared from view.

The Lowell team will play the Sanitary Choir team at Washington park tomorrow.

FOOTBALL GAMES

Some of the Big Battles Arranged

For the next two weeks the football forces at the various colleges, big and little, will be assembling at their respective camps, and they will continue to assemble until college has opened. The playing of schedules will begin from one to three weeks after candidates begin to report for preliminary practice. In playing regular games the Carlisle Indians are, as usual, first in the field. They will set the pigskin flying next Saturday in a game with Albion College.

By no means the least interesting feature of the football season is the schedules, the order of arrangement of the games and how they are placed that regard. In some the harder games are scattered here and there among the easier ones, while with others the hard battles are closely bunched, this applying to rival teams whose chief aim is to beat each other and for both of which the schedule is made principally to afford the best gradual development for the all important game when the two come together in the final clash.

Schedule making fills an important niche in preparing for the campaign. It is a matter of time, thought and much consulting of captains and coaches, and with the stronger elements at least the idea is to so arrange the dates and opponents as to bring about the best development of the team's strength. It is interesting to note where the big teams are in the habit of going for their opponents and how their ideas vary in the arrangement of their games with a view to working up to top form for the biggest or so-called championship games.

Yale university, which university has picked out more champion eleven than any other, and where the idea of the ball has been played more expertly than anywhere else, has fewer games scheduled this year than either Harvard or Princeton, her two great rivals. The Yale schedule for 1908 consists of only nine games, whereas both Harvard and Princeton each have 12. Yale opens on September 19th, and the game is what might be called a fairly easy opponent. Half a week later comes Syracuse, which may be ranked as a fairly stiff opponent. Next comes Holy Cross, which is not a team to cause any grave apprehension to the Blue crew. A week later, Princeton is to be met, and the Army gives the Blue the hardest kind of a fight every year. Washington and Jefferson and the Massachusetts Aggies come next in order and are not likely to give as much trouble as West Point. Then comes a week's vacation, and then Yale meets the Princeton team, a week before the Princeton battle and at a time when the Blue is beginning to hit the speed up to her real strength in preparation for Princeton and Harvard.

The only common opponent which Yale and Harvard have is Brown, the latter team playing the Crimson and the Blue a week apart. Brown counts on a smashing good team this year and there may be a defeat in store for the New Haven or Cambridge men at the hands of the Bruntons. Harvard doesn't strike hard teams as early in the season as Yale. Brown, Bates, Williams and the Springfield Training School play at Soldiers Field in the order named. There is a rather sudden change from one class of opponents to another, for after the five mentioned the schedule brings Amherst, Brown, Carleton, Dartmouth and then Yale. This means that the Crimson will have been through a trying siege by the time of the Yale game and have had much good experience with strong eleven. On the whole the schedule does not look quite so hard as Yale's, particularly when the fact that the latter has to meet Princeton is considered.

Princeton and Yale have opponents in common in Syracuse and West Point. But the latter two play the Tigers on dates which are so far apart from the Yale dates that their games with Yale and with Princeton are almost as much of a basis for comparison as between the Bulldog and the Tiger. Syracuse is at Princeton nearly a month after having been at New Haven while Yale plays the Army two weeks before Princeton does. Princeton is to be met by the Springfield Training School first, after which comes Stevens, Lafayette, Villanova, Virginia Polytechnic and Fordham. The Lafayette game may make the Tigers quiver their stride, but the Jersey men do not encounter stiff adversaries early in the season as Yale does. With Syracuse, West Point, Dartmouth and Yale coming in the final stretches, the Nassau team has a lively and formidable lot of opponents for the last half of its season. Princeton's is a considerably differently balanced schedule from Yale's, the chief feature being the late date which brings seasonings against difficult opponents early in the season.

FAMOUS PACER

MINOR HEIR MADE MILE IN 2:01 1/2

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Although Minor Heir, the famous pacer who reeled off a mile in 2:01 1/2 in Milwaukee last week, failed to equal that record, his plucky race against time against a strong breeze, making the mile in 2:01 1/2, was the star event of the first day of the grand circuit meet the state fair grounds here yesterday.

The Harvester, winner of the Colt event, had never started in a race before. He now holds the world's record for the fastest two heats ever trotted upon a first appearance and also the stallion record under the conditions.

DR. TARRASCH

SCORED HIS SECOND WIN FOR CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Dr. Tarrasch scored his second win yesterday in the tenth game of the match for the chess championship of the world against Dr. Lasker, after 42 moves. The score now stands:
Lasker, 3; Tarrasch, 2; draws 3.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

The American Motor League has now completed its State divisions of thirty-four States and committees are being appointed to carry on the detail work of the organization in each state. The league has taken a positive stand against road racing and reckless speeding will cause bills to be introduced in making it a penal offense. The league is also sending out printed instructions for the making and erection of guide boards and caution signs, and to encourage this work announces that it will remit to every league, club or board of consultants the entire dues paid by its members for the first year, provided the money so remitted shall be used by the local board in putting up guide boards and caution signs for the localities where the various dues are domiciled.

The St. Joseph Automobile Club announces that a reward of $100 will be paid for the arrest and conviction of any person who throws stones or missiles of any kind at automobiles in St. Joseph, Mo., or vicinity or in any way interferes with the peaceable progress of motor cars. The offer of this reward is the result of numerous outrages against motorists that have been committed in the city and the suburbs lately, and it is the intention of the officers of the automobile club to spare no effort to punish the persons who commit them.

The majority of tire pumps are still made with leather washers, which according to their condition, according to the process of pumping, get so hot in the process of pumping up, that the 90mm. section that it will burn the operator's hand. This heat reduces the washers rapidly, until at last the leather washer is left practically dry and shriveled and forms a very bad inhaler for less air on the suction stroke, and on the expansion stroke a large proportion of the air leaks back up past the washer, so that a huge number of strokes are required to give a rotundity to the tire, and it becomes absolutely impossible to pump the tires up to any high pressure. The washers should therefore receive attention proportionate to the use the pump is called upon to bear. New washers are never necessary if washers are frequently applied, but in emergency an excellent washer may be cut from the tongue of an ordinary walking boot, treated with grease from the gear box. The dryness of these washers is responsible for the return of many a pressure gauge as faulty, for the buying of new pumps and for much futile labor.

WRESTLING NEWS

War Eagle, the Indian wrestler, will have a weight advantage of several pounds when he meets Young Prokos in Associate hall Friday night. This may be too great a handicap for the Greek to overcome, for it is known that the man's skin is one of the most scientific grapplers in the country. "I'm confident of winning," said Young Prokos to the writer today. "I've heard a lot about this War Eagle, but I don't consider him a bit better than Fritz Hansen, and I'm willing to bet that I can beat Fritz any time at 145 pounds." "But War Eagle will weigh more than that," was suggested. "No matter if he does, I'll weigh about 180 myself," was the quick reply. War Eagle is expected here tomorrow. He is a full blooded Indian, and is in the habit of wearing Indian leggings. George V. Tuohy or Jim Gilligan will referee the bout.

It's too bad that little Austin Callery is unable to do more wrestling during the wrestling season. Possessed of plenty of science and as courageous as they make them, Austin should figure in a score of matches every season.

The fans are looking for some fun when Joe Coutu and Harry Metropole meet again. This pair put up an exciting bout at the last wrestling match, and Promoter Dunker will make a good move when he hooks them up again.

The challenge made by Young Prokos to defeat Eugene Tremblay twice in one hour will probably be accepted by the clever Frenchman. Tremblay has never wrestled better than at the present time, and while he is not as heavy as Young Prokos, he is a wonderful wrestler, and counts on his cleverness to hold the Greek off.

Fred Beall, the Wisconsin star, may be seen in the east this season. Beall stuck to the west last season, but several cities are clamoring for his appearance in the east, and it is said that Beall wants to make the trip.

LOSS IS $4000

SEVERAL HOUSES AT WEST NEWTON THREATENED

NEWTON, Sept. 15.—A fire which threatened dwellings on several streets broke out late yesterday afternoon in a large 2-story wooden building owned by the C. F. Eddy company, off Border street, West Newton, and destroyed the structure, considerable valuable machinery and many cords of cut wood, entailing a loss estimated at about $4000. Two alarms were sounded from box 35, the first one at 4:25. Employees discovered the roof near the Boston & Albany tracks burning brightly. Within a few minutes the flames worked down and spread to the large amount of kindling wood stored in the building. The place soon became a roaring furnace, and Chief Randall sent in a second alarm.

Cordwood outside the building caught fire. The sparks spread to the dwelling house at 78 Border street, occupied by Mrs. Della Rouse and three Italian families. To a dwelling at 86 Border street, occupied by Joseph Pugliese, to the house at 34 Cross street, a quarter of a mile away, occupied by Nicholas Sanders, and to a trestle supporting a trestle from the Boston & Albany main line to the saw mill.

The occupants of the four-family dwelling at 78 Border street were driven out and all their furniture was removed. The firemen, however, saved all three dwellings from being more than slightly damaged.

THE BUSY DEPT.

Lands and Buildings Dept. Did Much Work

The lands and buildings department this year prides itself on the great amount done on the public buildings of the city, as Inspector Smith has kept his men at work steadily for practically the entire year thus far and recently took the members of the lands and buildings committee on a tour of inspection and showed them just what had been done. At the conclusion of their visit the members were unanimous in their expressions of satisfaction.

The district police made a thorough tour of the public buildings this year and as a result of their inspections the department was given a large amount of unlooked for work. The following improvements were ordered by the district police and have been made: 82 doors changed so as to open outward; 24 double doors equipped with T handle flush bolts; 52 basement doors equipped with springs so as to keep them closed and prevent draught in the case of fire; new staircase from hall on third floor at Moody school to allow extra exit in case of fire; new staircase at third story class room in High school; fresh air room at Billings street school, floor constructed; 200 fire extinguishers to be installed in corridors of various schools.

The following work was done: kalsomining, Weed street school, upper and lower halls and ante-rooms; Carter street, eight class rooms; Chapel street, two rooms; Ames street, one room; Training school, seven rooms; Lexington avenue, all of building now in use; Favor street, four rooms; Lakeview avenue, two rooms; Middlesex, Village, entire building except unused room; Grand street, entire building; Cabot and Agawam street schools, entire buildings; Butler school, assembly hall and corridor.

Plastering on following buildings: London street annex, entire building replastered, and patching was done on the following: Moody street, Powell, Lincoln, High and Green schools, while ceilings were replastered on the Lakeview avenue, Ames street, Agawam street and Favor street buildings. New floors were installed as follows: Edison, six class rooms; Training, six class rooms; Butler, assembly hall and corridor.

Chimneys were rebuilt at the Highland, Cottage street, and Favor street schools. Retaining walls were built at the Grand street and New Bartlett schools. At the Billings street school a dry well was discontinued and connected up to the sewer about 30 feet of pipe being laid to the sewer.

At the Riverside school a good portion of the grounds was graded, a hill dug away and a dry well deepened to prevent backing up. At the Belmont road kindergarten a cellar was dug under the building and a foundation put in. The furnace was moved into the basement thus formed, a portion of the building was shingled, a new floor put in and the interior painted. At the Cabot street school, a new 42 by 10 boiler was installed and the piping changed, new fusible plugs added and everything done to make the boiler satisfactory to the inspectors and to conform to the Massachusetts boiler rules. The fire boxes of the boilers were also rebuilt or patched up and Fuller & Warren furnaces were packed. New smoke pipes and fire-pots were added where needed.

In addition to the above work of a classified nature the department also did the following general work: Repainted London street annex and supplied a new room of furniture; installed new entrance in Lincoln school from hall to second floor, repaired fence and repainted basement; repainted master's room at Highland school; laid 150 feet of new fence at Dover street school and repaired the old one; supplied two rooms of furniture at Grand street and kalsomined and painted interior; painted exterior of Franklin school; repainted all staircases at High school and annex; covered all around the Cabot street school walk at Lakeview avenue school; put in new stairs and piazza at West Sixth street school; covered yard of Varum school and kalsomined hall; placed 600 feet of fence around Pond street school and painted outside; put in new floors at Oakland school, repaired fence and put in new concrete walks; built new gutter and covered sidewalk at West street school; repainted exterior and placed new treads on stairs at West street school.

A new brick shed was built at Steamer Two's house, the stalls at the city stables and the board of health stables were repaired, the roofs on the police station stable, the sewer department shed and the city stable roof were repaired and the roof on the Memorial building was repaired.

GEN'L BUTLERS

TO TAKE PART IN SOUTH FRAMINGHAM PLAYOUT

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Sept. 15.—Representatives of the 15 hand tubs entered for the firemen's tournament and playout to be held at the fair grounds here Wednesday, in conjunction with the 55th annual cattle show and fair of the Middlesex South Agricultural Society, met at the Hollis street engine house last night to draw for positions in the playout.

Almost all the truck companies of the state have entered the competition for the $500 in prizes. Following are the drawings in their order: Quansigomog of Hopkinton, Gardner 4 of Gardner, Defenders of Taunton, Eureka 1 of Arlington, Watch city of Waltham, Gingers of Jamaica Plain, Gen. Miles of Westminister, Gen. Butler of Lowell, Gen. Putnam of Worcester, Red Jackets of Cambridge, Defenders of Brockton, Nonantams of Newton, Campello of Brockton, Hancock 1 of Brockton, Alabama, Corps of Brighton and Columbia of Brockton.

Every company will be accompanied by a band or drum corps and the Framingham fire department will turn out and act as escort to the visiting red shirts in the street procession, which will take place at 10 in the forenoon. The officials of the playout are: Charles H. Kohnrausch, chairman, and he said that any vote taken last night would be illegal.

Continuing he said: "Now when you say hello, you open a big discussion, and he said that any vote taken last night would be illegal. Suppose I am an official in this town, and he said that the court has already said that the whole thing was wrong, and he said that any vote taken last night would be illegal."

Mrs. Joseph D. Perry has returned from a pleasant vacation spent at Fall River and Newport, R. I.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily net average circulation of The Lowell Sun, for the year 1907 was

15,453

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Marlin H. Rely, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1908.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Bryan sentiment, it is said, is sweeping everything in the west and is spreading consternation among republicans in the east.

The candidates are hobnobbing in considerable numbers. The greater the array the easier will it be for the voters to select the right man for each place.

President Roosevelt's insistency that Taft is the best man on the face of God's footstool seems to be driving the voters over to Bryan. They do not seem to take the president's word for things of this kind.

The ranker of religious hate has not been entirely eradicated in England, although it is fast disappearing. The interference with the religious procession on Sunday reflected upon the British spirit of tolerance so conspicuous in some of the British colonies at the present time.

AS TO CHARTER REVISION.

With the approach of election, politics will get hot and candidates will be out hunting votes.

It would be well if some of the candidates for municipal office would interest themselves in the need of a new city charter.

The city has outgrown the old instrument, and until this be changed, simplified and systematized, we need not expect any radical improvement in the administration of our city affairs.

We want concentration of responsibility. We want the mayor to be invested with more power, so that when things go wrong he can be held responsible for results.

Before such responsibility can justly be placed upon his shoulders he must have absolute power to appoint and remove all appointive officials and to suspend even elective officials, pending a hearing upon whether they should be relieved from office.

There are far too many officials in our city government who are responsible to nobody but themselves, and who can set the mayor's authority at defiance.

All this must be changed, and it would be well if some of the candidates would adopt as part of their platform, a plank for charter revision.

We hear much of government by commission and the success it has achieved in some cities where it was applied for special purposes. Unless the present antiquated charter of the city of Lowell be revised so as to meet the demands of a modern city, some power may eventually put through a charter for government by commission in spite of our opposition.

This is not a partisan question, but it is one upon which the people are very jealous. It is difficult to overcome the inclination that most men have, to cling to the established order of things even when it is well known that a change is necessary.

The veneration which most people have for the statu quo has many a time blocked the wheels of municipal progress even in this city. Several times have the efforts of leading citizens in the matter of charter reform been defeated solely from this cause.

If the average voter will not take an interest in this question to the extent of favoring a progressive charter, our city must continue in the power of the grafter, and the mayor will continue to draw his salary while the grafters continue to run things as they please.

Let us apply business methods to the transaction of the city's business. The city is a large corporation in which every property holder and, indeed, every voter may be considered a stockholder.

How does a large corporation conduct its business? Does it employ an agent at a large salary and then allow a lot of his subordinates to do as they please in defiance of his orders?

Imagine the state of affairs that would result in the Merrimack or Massachusetts mills, if the agent had not absolute power over all departments and department bosses.

Suppose a boss went along directing his department to suit himself and in conflict with the orders of the agent, how long could the mill continue to do business?

Not very long. Can any large concern run unless all departments follow the general plan laid down by the responsible head who in this case is the agent? The cooperation of all departments is necessary to the success of the whole.

Now the same is true of a city government, but such subordination to a responsible head, such cooperation of departments as we see in a large factory are wholly lacking in the various departments of the city. The discipline and the system are also lacking, and hence the results are not attained. It is plain that a charter that provided a more business-like system, that gave the mayor power over the departments and held him responsible for results, would remedy many of the worst defects of our municipal government.

Until the voters, the politicians and business men alike join their forces in favor of charter reform we shall never get a charter of the right kind, and as a consequence we shall not get the kind of city government for which we have been agitating for many years past.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Ah, get de book, get de book!" yelled a boy in the gallery of the Academy of Music last Friday evening as one of the amateur entertainers made a dismal attempt at dramatic singing.

The "book" was not forthcoming at that time, but thereby hangs an interesting tale of a recently invented American that has crossed the language of Europe. It is recorded that not long ago in France a member of the senate, becoming bored by the long-winded arguments of a speaker, shouted: "La Croix! Le Croix! Apprenez le Croix!" ("The book, get the book!") The effect was electrical and from all parts of the house the cry was repeated until the offending member was forced to retire in confusion.

Martin J. Dixon, lawyer of the Academy of Music, who knows everything about the theatrical business, states that "the book" found its origin in Albee's vaudeville theatre in New York, and he claims that it is a modern application of the old Roman custom of entertaining people by allowing certain of them the privilege of deciding the fate of a victim and surely he says no defeated champion of the Roman arena ever looked with more fear in his heart for the dreaded "thumbs down" than does the modern amateur two thousand years later. Listen for the latest, "Get the book!" On Friday night, in October, 1903, a particularly bad amateur was inflicting a patient audience with an impossible "near tenor" voice. Despite the howls, groans and cat calls, the "artist" persisted in staging on, when Mr. Tom Minor, who was conducting the amateur performance, chanced to see in a corner a large, old fashioned, croak handled cane, which had been used by one of the better impersonators. Quickly picking it up, he called the properly man and had him lash it securely to a pole. With this he stepped to the wings and without getting in sight of the audience, deftly slipped "the book" around the neck of the would-be singer and yanked him off the stage before he really knew what had happened. The next amateur was to give imitations of noted actors and after giving one of the worst imaginable of Edwin Booth, announced that the next would be of Richard Mansfield. At this a small boy in the gallery yelled "Get the book," and the audience roared its approval and the "actor" fled in dismay. So "get the book" was given a fixed meaning and the use of the book was legitimized in the case of an impossible amateur.

POWER OF SHORT WORDS.

Think not that strength lies in the big, round word.

Or that the brief and plain must needs be weak;

To whom can this be true who once has heard

The cry of help, the words that all men speak

When want, or we, or fear is at the throat.

So that each word is gasped out like a shriek

Pressed from the heart, or as a stranger,

Sung by some boy or girl! There is a strength

Which dies if stretched too far, or spun too thin.

Which has more height than breadth, more depth than length.

Let but this force of thought and speech be mine,

And he that will may take the sleek, fat phrase

Which glows and burns not, though it gleams and shines;

Light but not heat, a flash without a blaze.

Not so it might but strength the short word lends.

It serves far more than what or storm can tell.

Or pair of waves that dash on rock-bound coasts;

The crash of fall trees when the wild winds swell;

The roar of gusts the greens of men that die

On blood-stained fields. It has a voice as well

For them that far off on their sick beds lie;

For them that weep, for them that mourn the dead;

For them that dance, and laugh, and clean the hand

To joy's quick step, as well as grief's sad tread.

The sweet, plain words we learn at first keep true.

And though the theme be sad, or gay, or grand,

With each, with all, these may be made to chime;

In thought, or speech, or song, or prose, or rhyme.

Some very interesting papers were read and discussed at the playground congress in New York last week.

NEGLECTED SWEETNESS.

Nox poets sing the grandeur of the fall;

The golden leaves and such things have the call—

The good old apple draws no song at all.

The yellow russet and the Northern Spy,

That sway and wabble 'twixt the earth and sky

Are inspiration, if a hard but try.

Soon all you dying leaves will be a mass

Of rubbish, fit for naught but flame, alas!

While you, O plippin, will be apple sass,

Oh, see the farmer, coming down the track;

Those barrels yonder with the fruit he'll fill.

And singing, tole them to the cider mill.

Unlike the leaves, that scars are worth a fig,

This hardened juice will start a festive wig.

Next winter, through the oft repeated swig.

Oh, shame, vain leaves; you make the poet sigh

And waste his sweetness with your lure so sly;

You never pleased as does an apple pie.

Who'er has sunk his teeth through apple skin

And caught the juice that trickled down his chin

Has little more of happiness to win.

The dumplings too—but let this serve to teach

The poets unbackneyed things in reach.

Before they lose their annual 'sere leaf screech.

We are in receipt of a postal card from our old friend, J. Henry Collins. The card bears a view of Lower Lake Killarney from the Victoria hotel and was mailed in Killarney. Mr. Collins says that he is having the time of his life. He will leave Ireland for Scotland this week.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

New York World: Messrs. Taft and Sherman and other practical men may naturally feel that the Powder Trust ought not to be in evidence at republican headquarters, but their dismay at Chairman Hitchcock's partiality can hardly be compared with the emotions that fit the ample bosoms of the other trusts.

Fear is one thing; jealousy is another. The politician is afraid that the people will resent the presence of powder at the head of the bureau of campaign speakers. Have they considered how the tender hearts of the other trusts must be lacerated by that peculiar circumstance? There are many trusts; all of them are profoundly devoted to republicanism.

We need waste no sympathy upon candidates and political workers who apprehend that the people may make that discovery that there is a trust at republican headquarters. The people have mildly suggested something of the kind for a long time. What we should heed just now is the injury which Mr. Hitchcock has unintentionally inflicted upon powder's portly brethren. There is more than one bureau at republican headquarters. If powder is to occupy one of the high places, why should not Brother Beef, Col. Oil, Gen. Steel, Major Tobacco and Capt. Sugar preside at others?

All trusts look alike to the American people. All trusts have a mighty yearning for republican success. Wherever the republican committee may be there also will be found the benignant spirits of privileges and plutocracy. Why should powder corporately occupy a seat at the right hand of the chairman, while the other fat men are permitted to be present only in their sympathetic and in their dreams?

If there is anything that a trust cannot endure it is partiality.

CARDINAL GIBBONS' SERMON.

Boston Herald: Cardinal Gibbons' sermon before the Eucharistic congress in London yesterday was notable for its recognition of the British empire's scope and the security of its power, and for its expressions of gratitude for the fostering aid which the Roman Catholic church has received from "the inestimable blessings of civil and religious liberty" which go along with government under the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes.

The venerable and honored American prelate did well to contrast the altered conditions of the foreigner and the Roman Catholic church in England since the council of Trent, an importance far from recognized as yet by adequate participation in practical control of the church at large or by nomination of cardinals. Italian influence is altogether disproportionate and cannot remain as it is many decades longer.

AS TO PARTY PLATFORMS.

The Commoner: The New York Tribune calls attention to the fact that Mr. Bryan has often had platform collapses under him, and remarks that "Mr. Bryan has an unfortunate tendency toward the selection of weak platforms." So that as it may, perhaps one reason why republican candidates are never in a platform collapse is that they never stand on their platforms.

TAFT AND CANNON.

N. Y. Evening Post: One of the first questions Mr. Taft will have to face, if elected, will be his attitude toward the dictator of the house. In a speech yesterday he made again an emphatic avowal of his desire to attack the Roosevelt policies. He cannot begin to unless Mr. Cannon consents. That eminent stand-patter and lifelong opponent of the merit system in the civil service has come to see, with Seneca E. Payne and other archbishops of protection, the handwriting on the wall, and has consented to a revision of the tariff by himself. Mr. Payne, Mr. Datzell and a few other choice spirits and devotees of the tariff graft.

NEW CAUSE OF DRUNKENNESS.

Boston Pilot: Drunkenness is at last explained. It is not the fault of the drunkard. It is all a matter of weather. We suspected this right along and now it is settled. Prof. Hildebrand of the British association last week in Dublin said of northern latitudes: "The universal love of strong drink is not the mere outcome of vicious desires, but of climatic law." Here is a brand new excuse for all New England toppers and backed up by science, too.

Adolfo Rossi, formerly inspector of Italian emigration, has been appointed consul-general of Italy at Denver. He will leave Denver for his new post Sept. 19. Signor Rossi has made many journeys to the United States.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, will deliver a course of lectures at the University of Copenhagen.

Dr. A. Legerlo of the Pasteur institute, Chicago, who has been taking treatment for an infection of rabies obtained by a scratch on his hand in his laboratory, has been declared out of danger.

In honor of Secretary of War Wright, who with his party is visiting in Fort Riley, Kansas, a spectacular program was arranged for five thousand regular army and navy men of the Iowa National Guard, and a regiment from South Dakota took part in the attack and defense of Junction City.

Nat Goodwin expects to begin his season in his new play, "Carmen Kirby" in Chicago in November.

The Kendalls have just started in on their annual tour of the British provinces. Their chief novelty is "The Whirlpool," by Herbert Swears, the plot of which was suggested by a stock exchange story of Cyrus Townsend Brady.

When James K. McKim reappears at his own theatre in New York on the 21st instant, it will be in a revival of "The Prisoner of Zenda."

For the last few days the old Putnam has been wide awake, and according to ye olden inhabitant books more as it used to in the days of yore than has been the case for a long, long time. Once upon a time, you know, sitting on the Putnam was included in the list of the rich, the nitty, the swaggers and the shrews—the quarreling operations hadn't been begun then—and on the tip-top of those Virginia palisades there were boat clubs galore, and the public bathhouse did a thriving business in rowboats, skiffs, tubs, catamarans and other craft.

Then came the smash. Poor parties succeeded the champagne festivals, and the crowd that went up Sundays—which was formerly the select day of the city—got so tough the river went. Finally all the nice people quit going up the river for pleasure and eventually even the roughs and toughs deserted it.

For the last dozen years or more there has been a gradual but certain revival of interest in things aquatic, and of late this has advanced by leaps and bounds.

In the latest Shanghai trade report it is stated by Mr. Edgar Hobson, the commissioner of customs, that owing to the increasing linguistic proficiency of the Chinese plain English is falling into disuse. English, French and German are learned by the Chinese with comparative ease when properly taught, and with the introduction of western education into Chinese schools broken English is giving place to more correct speech. Well, this journey has had a long run in the east. It is not at all like Chinese and so unlike English that newcomers require to learn it. The difference between it and proper English was once unaccountably and wittily expressed by a Cantonese shopkeeper, who finding himself at a loss to understand the correct English spoken by a new arrival turned to his friend, an American, and said: "Moi betah-yau, fien talkee English; talk; my no sabbee Melican talk."

By the death of the Earl of Rosse the small band of peers in the house of lords, whose scientific attainments have won them recognition in the world of science—from which in the last few months Lord Kelvin and Lord Blythwood have disappeared—is further depleted. Perhaps the most versatile scientist of those still remaining in the upper house is Lord Avonby, no less celebrated as a geologist and archaeologist than as a politician. Physics is worthily represented by the Earl of Berkeley and Lord Rayleigh (the only Senior Wrangler among the peers) and astronomy by the Earl of Crawford, who is also an ardent naturalist. The Duke of Northumberland, president of the Royal institution, has a strong scientific bent, and entomology owes much to Lord Walsingham, who presented his collection of microlepidoptera—the largest in the world—to the British Museum in 1901. Lord Lister, the famous discoverer of antiseptic surgery, who is in his eighty-second year, is the honored doyen of the scientific peers.

In Melbourne the American sailors will see the style and title of a famous countryman of theirs, Captain Freeman Cobb. It was he who in the early '50s established the coaching firm of Cobb & Co., which became a household word all over Australia. There were few railways at that time, and Cobb's six horse coaches became the regular means of communication between Melbourne and Ballarat, Bendigo, and most of the other up-country gold fields. That cute Yankee, Capt. Freeman Cobb, who saw the opportunity and grasped it, soon returned to America with a handsome fortune, but

NIGHT EDITION

HUGHES ENDORSED

In the Platform of the New York Republicans

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 15.—With the ironing out of most of the wrinkles which had threatened to turn the second day's session of the republican state convention into one of sensational struggle the convention resumed its sessions in the convention hall soon after 2 p. m. today with something resembling real enthusiasm. The hall was packed to its capacity.

The arrival of Secretary Root who presides over the convention as both temporary and permanent chairman was the signal of an uproar of cheers. The committee on credentials reported that the only one on credentials reported from the first Manhattan assembly district. The committee reported that no motion to dismiss the contest and also the motion to seat the delegates were lost by a tie vote. The report was adopted.

E. H. Hughes read the platform. Slight cheering followed the first mention of Mr. Taft's name and that of President Roosevelt.

The platform endorsed the national administration as well as that of Gov. Hughes.

At the words, "We endorse the administration of Gov. Hughes," the convention broke into cheers and applause. Most of the delegates rose but Albany and Kings county delegates remained seated. The cheering lasted seventy seconds.

BIG DEMONSTRATION

In New York Convention at Mention of Bryan's Name

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 15.—It was well past the hour of noon before the delegates to the democratic state convention began to assemble. An important conference in the morning, Mr. Murphy was one of the principal reasons for the delay in opening the convention. National Chairman Mack and Mr. Murphy had been in consultation for some time before a messenger was sent for State Chairman Conners. The latter arrived in a rush and was soon closeted with the other leaders. It was said that as the outcome of the conference there would be a decision as to whether there shall be peace at any price with Mr. Carren or the threat of the leader of Kings county to hold the respect.

The respect fight in the convention between Murphy and Mr. Carren was uppermost in the minds of the delegates as they reached the hall. National Chairman Mack will have to use his best endeavors to straighten out what appears to be a hopeless breach in the democratic democracy.

Lieut. Gov. Louis Stuyvesant Chamberlain continued to hold first place in the gubernatorial race.

Supreme Court Justice Gerard, who was mentioned by Leader Murphy yesterday, when the up-state leaders demanded that the New York leader name some one to challenge the right of the lieutenant governor to the nomination was widely discussed today.

The arriving delegations and spectators found the convention hall gay with decoration.

At 12:45 o'clock Leader Murphy and Chairman Mack came in together. They were followed by Senator McCarren of Brooklyn.

State Chairman Conners called the convention to order. The temporary organization was effected by the selection of former Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien of New York as temporary chairman.

Judge O'Brien was cheered at the very outset when he prefaced his speech by the announcement that with the co-operation of the delegates he would do his utmost to promote the unity, harmony and success of this convention.

"Never was the outlook for democratic success more promising," he said. After years of division the party has again united upon principles and ideas which bring it back to its criminal moorings as the representative of democracy against plutocracy. With principles well defined in our national platform, with aspirations conducive to the well being and prosperity of our country, we have entered upon an aggressive campaign, in which on every issue our opponents must assume the defensive.

With revenues larger than were needed to carry on the greatest empire or kingdom, ancient or modern, the government is facing a deficit of millions. If returned to power the republican party must increase the tariff or resort to new and untried methods of taxation to meet the extravagant expenditures which its policies involve,

MANSLAUGHTER CASE

On Trial Before Judge Lawton in Superior Court Today

An ugly looking knife with a double edged blade some six inches long and a lot of blood-soaked underclothing gave a gruesome aspect to the superior court room this morning when the case of George Alekopolous, indicted for manslaughter and assault with a dangerous weapon, the victim being John Paraskevacos, who died at the Lowell General Hospital August 13, as the result of a knife wound received on August 13 in Fenwick street in a fight with the defendant and another man named Benarkis, who has never been apprehended.

Several witnesses with unpronounceable names testified that Alekopolous struck Paraskevacos with an umbrella held in his right hand while he held a knife, which was produced in court, in his left hand, that he stabbed Paraskevacos and afterward kicked him, and also that Benarkis had a knife and took part in the stabbing. One of the witnesses testified that he grabbed Benarkis by the hand that held the knife and Benarkis cried to Alekopolous "Give it to him, Sport," whereupon he claims Alekopolous stabbed him and he showed a torn coat in corroboration of his statement.

Prof. Iatros officiated as interpreter. In the case. All the well known Greek interpreters were in court and there appeared to be unusual interest in the case.

Lawyer Donahue, who appeared for the defendant, in his opening remarks stated that the defense would endeavor to introduce an ante-mortem statement made by the dying boy to the clerk of police court and to another Greek interpreter to the effect that Benarkis and not Alekopolous gave him the knife wound. Alekopolous, his counsel claimed, was one of the men attracted to the scene by the light between Benarkis and Paraskevacos

ALDERMEN MEET

Regular Meeting Scheduled for Tonight

A regular meeting of the board of aldermen is scheduled for this evening at 8 o'clock and the question is: Will Dr. W. M. Jones be confirmed for the board of health? There is considerable speculation as to what will be the attitude of Mr. Bailey. Up to date the doctor and his friends have failed to persuade Mr. Bailey to vote for him there isn't any reason to believe that the aldermen will switch.

IN MANCHESTER

FEDERATION OF LABOR OPENED ITS CONVENTION TODAY

MANCHESTER, N. 6 O'CLOCK

THE ANTI-HUGHES MEN

Want Ambassador Hill for Governor of New York

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 15.—An hour's development might easily change the status of affairs in regard to the nomination of governor to be made today by the republican convention.

A conference of state leaders representing both the Hughes and anti-Hughes wing of the convention, adjourned in the early hours of the morning after a protracted discussion of the conditions. Practically all of the more influential leaders were present at this gathering, the net result of which was an adjournment to meet again this forenoon and a more or less friendly agreement that in the interval the nomination for governor should be offered to a man regarded as filling the needs of the situation, at least by those opposed to the re-nomination of Gov. Hughes. The name of this man was not divulged.

That the leaders in the van of the pro-Hughes movement had little confidence in the acceptance by this man of the proffer of the nomination was clear from the fact that Herbert Parsons, leader of the New York county delegation who is definitely committed to the support of Gov. Hughes said as he left the conference that Gov. Hughes will be re-nominated and I think it will be upon the first ballot.

Those present in the morning over which Timothy L. Woodruff, as chairman of the state committee presided, included Secretary of State Root who is acting as chairman of the state committee, ex-Governor Odell, Jr., National Committeeman William L. Ward, Speaker James Wadsworth, Jr., and Senator Horace White of Syracuse, both of these last being leading candidates as opposed to Gov. Hughes; Senate Leader John Raines; former State Superintendent of Insurance, Hon. Charles B. Smith; Commissioner G. W. Aldridge; Regis. Fassett, Parsons and Malby; William Barnes, Jr. of Albany; Postmaster Greiner of Buffalo and William Derrill of Brooklyn.

Root Declines

In this conference there came to a head the most urgent effort of the opposition to prevent the nomination of Gov. Hughes. At no time has there been any question of the ability of the opposition to prevent the nomination of the governor if it could unite on any single candidate who would accept the nomination. The efforts made yesterday to induce Sec. Root to accept the nomination the efforts made yesterday to induce Secretary Root to accept the nomination may be fairly described as tremendous. But Mr. Root told the conference that he could not for a moment consider such a nomination.

"If I should do such a thing," said he in substance, "I should be accused and rightly as senior member of the cabinet, of disloyalty to President Roosevelt and he would be accused and with much justification, of tampering with the declaration made long ago and reiterated today of his emphatic desire for the re-nomination of Gov. Hughes."

Secretary Root having been thus definitely removed from the situation, left the conference and left the leaders face to face with a problem the solution of which they admitted was the next thing to impossible.

When the conference adjourned the difficulty of finding some one to take the nomination in Gov. Hughes' stead had apparently not been diminished and even those most desirous of securing the consent of "some real, good man" to take the nomination professed little confidence in their success.

Discussion of the rest of the ticket had not been reached by the conference. Nor was there any discussion of the platform. Both of these matters were regarded as decidedly subsidiary to the main question of whether the organization must after all accept Hughes. It was the expressed opinion of almost everybody at the conference, with the possible exception of Secretary Root, who was quoted on the subject, that Gov. Hughes would not be elected in November. Beyond a doubt that is the honest belief of the vast majority of the republican politicians in the state. Apart from the personal antipathy of many of the leaders toward Gov. Hughes this was one of the arguments against the governor's re-nomination upon which practically all those present at this conference were agreed.

Hill the Man

Late in the morning, it was learned that Dr. D. J. Hill of Rochester, ambassador of the United States to Germany, is the man whom the anti-Hughes leaders have decided upon as their candidate for governor to defeat the re-nomination of Gov. Hughes. They were slow in coming to this morning, having been in conference until about 2 o'clock, and developments were tardy.

The story the anti-Hughes men were telling as they began to get about was that Hill would certainly be nominated.

By "unless" they admitted that they meant "unless there is irretrievable interference from national headquarters, President Roosevelt, the republican national committee and Mr. Taft."

Dr. Hill's name was suggested, it is said, by State Committeemen Aldrich of Monroe. Very few people would be found this morning who really believed that Dr. Hill could or would actually be nominated. There were many signs that the latest plan of the leaders constructed with Dr. Hill as the center stone represented probably their last stand and that if defeated there they would accept their defeat as gracefully as they could.

By 11 o'clock the conviction was widespread that the opposition had gone to pieces and when they met and probably would be continued efforts up to the last minute to find some one upon whom to unite the battle was really over. The anti-Hughes "allies" were the air of beaten men.

It was stated on authority that a telegram had been sent to Dr. Hill that that therefore no answer was expected.

Mrs. Redini is in the hospital with an affliction of the lungs as a result of the wound and her recovery is doubtful. TO NAME JUDGE

To Head Conn. Democratic Ticket

HARTFORD, Sept. 15.—As there is no contest of any sort in slight early arrivals among the delegates to the democratic state convention which will open tonight here were far from enthusiastic.

Comstock and tonight after he has introduced former Mayor I. A. Sullivan of this city as temporary chairman and the senatorial districts have reported their committee members adjournment will be taken over until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

The belief is general that the ticket will be Judge H. Robertson of New Haven and Joseph H. Tuttle of this city for governor and Lieutenant-governor respectively.

DEDHAM, Sept. 15.—An indictment charging murder in the first degree was returned by the Norfolk grand jury today against Dr. Walter R. Amesbury for the alleged shooting and killing of his wife, Anna B. Amesbury, at their home in Hyde Park on Dec. 25, 1907. Amesbury, who is in the Dedham jail, will be arraigned some time this week.

A similar indictment returned against Amesbury in April last was set aside because of a technical error and the case had to be submitted to the grand jury a second time.

ALL BLAMED

IN THE LIGHT WAR AT NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Declaring that all hands concerned were to blame, Judge Howell in the first criminal court at Newark yesterday refused to accept a complaint against Thomas P. Quinn, an employee of the public service corporation, who was charged with the shooting of a woman, who was killed, between the men was the result of a controversy between the company over the stringing of wires and other matters of each company had been harassing each other with bodily harm all day Saturday.

Judge Howell, after finding the stocks of both sides, decided he had a right to accept a complaint against Quinn and Quinn and also against W. D. Quinn, his brother, Arthur Quinn, of the same company. He declared that all hands were responsible for creating a disturbance and instigating a riot at Newark and New Jersey, where the shooting occurred, and he wanted all of them to be responsible in the future in conducting their business.

GERMAN KAISER

Can Abolish War Says Carnegie

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Andrew Carnegie has written a letter from Skibo castle, Scotland, to Rep. Richard Bartholdt of Missouri, president of the American group of the inter-parliamentary union, which convenes in this city Sept. 17, in which he says:

"I cannot escape the conclusion that the abolition of war among civilized nations as a mode of settling international disputes is very easily accomplished. There will be one man in Berlin while your congress is in session who has only to speak the word. The emperor of Germany has it in his power to abolish war among civilized nations. All he has to do is to ask Great Britain, France and the United States to agree with him in declaring that since the world has contracted to a 'neighborhood,' and is in constant and instantaneous communication one part with another, the interchange of products between them amounting to thousands of millions a year, the time has passed when any one civilized nation can be permitted to break that peace in which all are so deeply interested. Internal disputes must be settled by arbitration."

Neither of the three countries named could afford to reject this invitation, and the emperor would have performed a service to the world unexampled by any human being that ever lived.

"Whether his majesty is to fail in this great mission and pass into history as one of a long line of rulers not men of achievements, but only of title, or to awake some noble and heroic spirit to perform his mission, we cannot tell, but I shall hope that the angel of the Lord will appear unto him."

COST HIM $10

MAN WAS FOUND IN THE SERVANT'S ROOM

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Brice S. Evans, the international golf champion of Boston for two years, who was found at 352 Bay State road, Boston, and John T. Kelley of 203 Berkeley place, Brooklyn, were arrested at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in the home of Oscar Richards, the banker, at 46 East 87th street, New York. The two young men are friends of Harold Richards, a son of the banker.

Evans, who is 20 years old, said that he was a member of the class of '11, Amherst. The two young men had been on a yacht cruise with the banker's son and he invited them to stay with him for a few days. The rest of the family being in Europe.

He was not at home when the two went to the house late Sunday night, but the two women servants in the house knew they were expected and showed them to their rooms.

When the door was opened by a servant, said to Magistrate Wahl in the Yorkville police court when the two young men were arraigned yesterday. "He was smoking a cigarette and he offered me one. I told him I did not smoke and he gave me a dollar and a half and Bridget Murtin, the maid, put her head of the window and called a policeman."

Kelly said he did not intend to frighten the woman. His watch had stopped and knowing there was an alarm in the house he went there to see what time it was, he explained.

"Why did you offer her a cigarette?" the court asked him.

"I have no recollection of doing so," he said.

The magistrate fined him $10 and discharged Evans, who went to Garden City and qualified in the golf championships.

LOOKS LIKE CHANLER

Democrats May Name Him For Governor of New York

The Up-state Delegates are Strong for Him—The Tammany Men are Awaiting Developments—Sen. McCarren Threatens a Bolt if any of His Delegates are Unseated

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 15.—With the question of the gubernatorial nomination still unsettled but narrowing down to one of three or four men, and with the prospect of lively sessions ahead, involving the merits of the fight between Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany hall, and Senator Patrick H. McCarren of Brooklyn over contested seats in Kings county, the democratic state convention assembled here today at noon. Mr. McCarren last night made official his personal threat to bolt the convention if any one of his delegates should be unseated. It was with this understanding that the large Brooklyn delegation under the McCarren leadership made their way to the convention hall today. The McCarren delegates, against whom contests had been entered before the state committee, were unseated by that body last night. This was not unexpected as the committee as at present constituted was known to be antagonistic to the Brooklyn leader. Senator McCarren took with him to the convention hall today a resolution which he declared he would present at the earliest opportunity calling for a complete re-organization of the state committee and the election of a new membership. State Chairman Conners stated, however, that he did not believe the resolution would have a chance.

The prospects of the McCarren-Murphy fight gave unusual interest to the opening session of the convention which consisted of the election of former Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, and the appointment of committees. Senator McCarren says he will first make his fight before the credentials committee and if unsuccessful there will carry the matter to the floor of the convention.

The nominating session will not be held until late tomorrow afternoon and may as a matter of fact have to be postponed until Thursday on account of the visit of W. J. Bryan, who will address the convention Wednesday night. Every effort will be made, however, to get the gubernatorial nomination at least out of the way before Mr. Bryan arrives. This is the wish of the presidential candidate who does not desire to be put in the position of having influenced the selection of a candidate in the convention.

Lieut. Gov. Chanler remained this morning, to all outward appearance, the leading candidate for nomination as head of the state ticket.

Leader Murphy's expression of opinion in favor of Supreme Court Justice Gerard of New York city became public property this morning for the first time and was widely commented upon. The friends of Mr. Chanler, however, continued their efforts to convince Mr. Murphy that the lieutenant-governor's strength up the state entitled him to first consideration.

The race for subordinate places on the ticket continues an open one. The Tammany delegation evinced the morning with their usual convention parade.

The candidacy of Lieut. Gov. Chanler was given further strength today when up-state delegates arrived. Charles F. Murphy and his advisers maintained a receptive attitude.

Senator McCarren said today that all the delegates from Kings would be excited by the delegation would leave the convention.

Chairman Conners at 11 o'clock announced that in his opinion Lieut. Gov. Chanler would be nominated on the first ballot.

BRYAN SCORES TAFT

Wants to Know How Republican Candidate Can Give Prosperity

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—W. J. Bryan arrived here at 10 o'clock from Baltimore. He was taken to Donner's hotel, the headquarters of the Bryan league of Pennsylvania.

Following a reception at Donner's, Mr. Bryan was escorted to the office of the Philadelphia Record, where he spoke to a large crowd while standing on a small platform in front of a bandstand across the street. He referred to "the people's rule" as the arrangement of the election methods of Philadelphia. Some one shouted: "How about Maine?" and Mr. Bryan replied:

"Maine has returned the lowest republican majority in forty-seven years, and to be conservative I have canceled on this showing a few states to the republicans."

He said that Mr. Taft promised prosperity, and President Roosevelt entered the promise, but he asked how is Mr. Taft going to give prosperity when his grandfather, Mr. Roosevelt, already had a panic on his hands.

Mr. Bryan then was driven to the Bellevue Stratford hotel, where he was the guest at luncheon given by a committee of New Jersey men, who have charge of Mr. Bryan's movements in New Jersey this afternoon and this evening. Mr. Bryan spoke at a reception at Washington park, a pleasure resort on the Delaware river below Philadelphia. He will then go to Trenton, where he speaks this evening, and later in the night he will go to New York.

Mr. Bryan said: "Mr. Taft is looking instead of dealing his position on public questions he is comparing about my record and in his inability to show that he knows as little about my record as he does about the public questions which he has attempted to discuss. He accuses me of being changeable and of abandoning issues."

Mr. Bryan said he had been a hard reformer for 28 years, had aided in the election of a tariff law, the people for twelve years and has been favoring an income tax for fourteen years, and Mr. Taft is only now coming around to his position on these questions.

"On the railroad question he has expressed himself as strongly as I have. He has said and the president has said also that government ownership will follow if the railroads percent regulation. I have said the same thing. I do not desire government ownership. I hope that the railroads will permit regulation. Our position was different in that he has more faith than I have in the willingness of the railroads to be regulated."

"He spends some time on the money question. The money question has been taken out of politics because the unexpected discovery of gold has given the increase which was demanded by the republican party as well as by the democratic party."

"Mr. Taft cannot escape from the issues. Will he define his position on

SERIOUS INJURY

Ex-Alderman's Son Struck On Head

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Frank Doyle, the 12-year-old son of Andrew J. Doyle, the Tammany ex-alderman of the First Assembly district, went swimming in the Battery free baths yesterday afternoon. In diving off the platform his head struck the stone steps leading into the swimming pool and he sank to the bottom unconscious and carried him to his home at 13 Washington street, not far away.

When Alderman Doyle got home he found his son in a bad way and summoned an ambulance. The lad was removed to St. Gregory's hospital, where Dr. Smith said that he was suffering from a partial paralysis of the spine. Late last night the boy's condition was pronounced serious.

AT OYSTER BAY

The President Spending His Last Week There

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 15.—Unless something unforeseen happens this, the last week of the president's vacation at Sagamore Hill, will be the quietest of the summer. Secretary Loeb said yesterday that no more visitors of importance were expected and that those who wished to call on the president were being urged to defer their visit until the return to Washington.

The work of closing the president's home for the winter has already begun, and the village people are beginning to wonder what Oyster Bay will be like next summer, when it can claim no greater distinction than that it is the home of an ex-president, who will then be on vacation in Africa.

HELD IN $3000

Two Young Men Charged With Breaking and Entering

George Roy and Henry Peiler, aged 15 and 21 years, broke into the store owned by Michael Paraleanu in Merrimack street, near Suffolk street, this morning, and stole a quantity of cigars, tobacco and candy. About half an hour after the break, however, they were in the clutches of Patrolman John N. Welch. They were arraigned in police court this morning and held under $300 bonds for their appearance before the grand jury.

An entrance was effected through a side window about 4:30 o'clock this morning, and when the couple got inside they pilfered 25 cigars valued at ten cents each, 10 five cent cigars, 50 one cent cigars, three boxes of tobacco and five pounds of chocolate.

After leaving the store the young burglar repaired, Peiler taking the loot with him to his room in the Essex house while Roy went to a house in Salem street.

Almost immediately after the break was made Patrolman Welch found the window open. His suspicion was directed to the above mentioned young men, and going to the Essex house he questioned Peiler about the break and succeeded in locating the booty. Peiler was placed under arrest and ten minutes later Roy was also arrested.

Triod to End His Life

Edward Conillon who has spent the greater part of his life in jails and poor farms, was arrested yesterday for being drunk and late in the afternoon made two unsuccessful attempts to end his life in the cell he occupied.

Conillon gives his residence as Providence, R. I., but the police are of the opinion that any place he hangs his hat is home, sweet home.

About 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon Keeper Whitaker, in making his rounds, discovered the man tearing at his trousers and tying them in strips for the purpose, so he said, of hanging himself. A half-hour later when the keeper was passing the man's cell it was found that he had torn both of his shirts into strips and was about to tie one end about his throat. His clothing was taken from him and a close watch put over him for the night.

In court this morning Conillon pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness, but said he did not remember of having tried to commit suicide. He acknowledged that he had been confined in various institutions, including jails and poor farms, an that recently he was an inmate of the Tewksbury almshouse. He also acknowledged that he was the same Conillon who, a couple of months ago was fined $6 for walking on the railroad tracks of the Boston & Maine. He was sent to the state farm.

Stole a Monkey Wrench

Richard F. Jordan, a shoot cutter hailing from one of the small towns in Maine, came to this city the other day in quest of work, but did not seem to be very successful in finding it, but succeeded in getting drunk yesterday and while intoxicated stole a monkey wrench from Amos Arcland's barn in Drexler street. Jordan said that the drink was the cause of the act. He was fined $15.

Stole Jewelry

Alfred Roy pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with the larceny of a watch, two rings, a pin, a chain and two handkerchiefs, all of the value of about $26, the property of John Constantinopolis. He was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory.

His 23d Appearance

It was the 23d time that Edward P. Lynch had been before the court, but he escaped with a $5 fine.

Three Months in Jail

Susan Marren pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging her with being drunk. She was arrested in Bridge street last night by Patrolman Lennon. The arresting officer said that the woman was very drunk and disorderly. Susan informed the court that the police officers were persecuting her and she was afraid to even go out to the meat market for fear that one of them would arrest her. Her plea of clemency, however, did not have much effect on the court for she was sentenced to three months in jail. She appealed.

John McGinnis, whose last residence was at the state farm in Tewksbury, was sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater.

Joseph Rancourt, who last week was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory, and later appealed, was in court this morning and withdrew his appeal.

There was one $2 drunk and three first offenders were released.

The case of Ernest Daigle, charged with assaulting Constable Charles P. Bradley, was continued until Sept. 20th, by agreement of counsel.

Given Another Chance

Thomas P. Mullen was charged with being a common drunkard. His wife said that they had ten children, five of whom are dependent upon the father for support. She said her husband had been drunk for the last six months and that she was tired of putting up with him when he is always drunk.

Patrolman McKay and Hogan testified to seeing the man drunk on numerous occasions.

Probation Officer Slattery said that the man was a good offender and had been on probation six or seven times, but that when the man was sober there wasn't a better man at his business in the city. The court placed him on probation.

MORRILL SCHOOL

Misunderstanding Causes a Light Attendance

The attendance at the opening of the Morrill school in Commers street yesterday was somewhat below expectations, owing to a misunderstanding on the part of many of the parents. It seems that recently it was announced that the Morrill school kindergarten had been transferred to the Court street school, and many took the announcement to mean that the primary school had closed which is not the case. Miss Mary Quinn has been appointed to the Morrill school during the continued absence of Miss Brown. Miss Quinn filed the price list.

IRISH FORESTERS

Biennial Session of Order Opened in Brockton

BROCKTON, Sept. 15.—Yesterday was opened the 15th biennial session of the supreme body of the Irish National Foresters in America in G. A. R. hall.

Mr. McSweney, of branch Smith O'Brien, chairman of the local committee of arrangements, extended the greetings of the local members to the delegates and he was followed by Mayor John S. Kent, John J. Shea, supreme chief ranger, responded.

Then followed the reports of the officers, the appointment of the convention committees and the election of an assistant secretary for the convention. For the latter position there were two candidates, George Weeks of Central Falls, P. I., and Miss Mary McQuade of Waltham. The latter won. Thomas J. Herlihy of Lawrence and James J. Byrne of Dorchester were appointed heads of the committees appointed were as follows:

Press—T. P. McSweney and Miss Alice Nelson of Lowell.

Credentials—Patrick Thornton, Jas. J. Byrne, John J. Donohue, Miss Nellie T. Lyons, Mary Nagle, Nellie McNeil, Martin J. Hyams, Edmund Russell, Miss Susie McGoldrick and Michael J. Cahill.

Rules—John P. Ahern, James Lowe, John G. Mahoney, Catherine Mansfield, Rosetta Keane and Annie O'Neill.

Constitution—James Goldrick, Jas. H. Matthews, John Hanover, John H. Buckley, Joseph O'Hanlon, Nellie Mahan and John J. Cullen.

Resolutions—James H. McGowan, Thomas J. Herlihy, William Goggin, M. P. Hayes, E. A. Carroll, Hannah Burke and Susie McGoldrick.

Grievance—Philip Kelly, Alice Neilson, Daniel Keillor, Katherine Hayes, John J. Kelton and Daniel O'Connell.

Officers' reports—John Barrett, Patrick J. Cummings, Mary McQuade, John J. Madden and Agnes Sullivan.

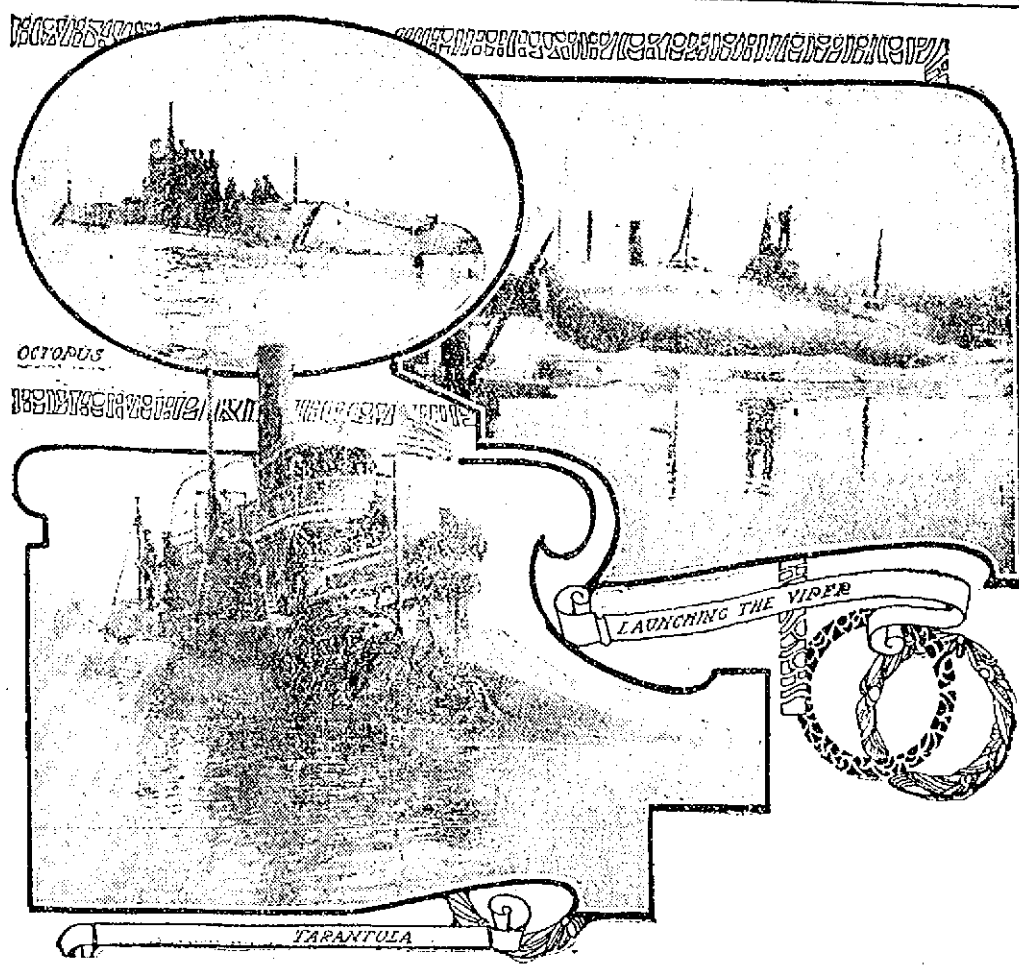

The report of John J. Shea, supreme chief ranger, was one of the best ever heard in a convention of the order. In it Mr. Shea came out flat-footed in his half of the work of the Irish parliamentary party, the Gaelic league, the propagation of the Irish language and the teaching of the Irish history in the schools and colleges as well as the teaching of the same at the homes. Sterner methods, he felt, will have to be used for the final independence of Ireland, but until then and opportunities were at hand to carry on such methods, support should be given to those who have been conducting a successful fight for Ireland in the British house of commons.

The report stated that since the last convention several new states had been organized and the efforts put forth to have all the branches of the order in America enrolled into one great organization were successful.

John A. Rose, supreme secretary, reported the last increase in members as 1420 and the number of new branches instituted was 15 and one district, that of New York, was organized. He was of the opinion that there should be established an organizing fund, and Frank R. Carroll, supreme treasurer, reported the total receipts for the term as $21,757.72 and the expenses $15,911.53.

Last evening the delegates were given a complimentary banquet in G. A. R. hall at which 200 places were laid. The toastmaster was T. P. McSweney, and the postprandial exercises, in front of Representative Timothy Maude, Representative Edward Gilmer, John J. Shea, Mrs. Katherine A. Boyle, the only woman on the supreme executive board, and John A. Rose, supreme secretary.

The concert program was participated in by the Misses Reardon and Master Timothy Spillane, the latter rendering several Gaelic songs.

THE SUBMARINES

To Be Submerged for 48 Hours

SEVERAL SUBMARINES GOING TO MANILA

After a Series of Secret Tests Demonstrating Their Worth—The Newport Test the Severe on Record

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 15.—Delayed two hours by a northeast gale, which kicked up a choppy sea, during the early morning, the torpedo boat and destroyer flotilla sailed away from this port yesterday under orders to proceed direct to Newport, where the government has arranged for one of the most important submarine tests ever conducted in American waters.

It is planned to submerge the entire fleet of submarine boats on the mile line at Newport for 48 hours, which it successfully accomplished will be one of the longest and severest tests in the history of the United States navy. The performance will, therefore, be watched with widespread interest in naval circles not only in this but other countries.

The destroyers the Plunger, the Tarantula, the Viper and the Cuttlefish will be buried two days and two nights and in them in the endurance experiment for the sake of the advancement of the war science will be 34 men. The compressed air tanks are generally equipped with only a sufficient supply to last 24 hours, but this test will demand a double supply.

It is estimated that the longest any submarine boat could possibly remain below the surface with one charging of air would be 75 hours, and nothing as long as the 48-hour stretch has ever before been attempted. It is a matter of conjecture, therefore, just how the boats will act and how the men will stand it.

The Hist, which serves as tender to the second torpedo flotilla, was the first to get away, and she was followed by the destroyers Springham, Klingey, Baiter, Delong and Thornton. Next to depart were the submarines and the "Mother Ship" Yankee was the last to weigh anchor.

The first torpedo flotilla remained in port. The Plunger was unable to proceed to Newport because of a recent mishap. She is at Immigration dock. The entire fleet had been here a fortnight.

It is reported that in addition to the endurance test the fleet will be inspected by the admiral.

It is known outside navy circles that the tests are being made with a view to rushing a squadron of the odd little vessels to Manila. Naval experts declare any distance, as they can be sealed up and made unsinkable. The submarines now in the far east were sent across the Pacific on the deck of a vessel. This illustration shows the Octopus, the Viper and the Tarantula, three vessels of the very latest type of "diving warships." All three of these are scheduled for the Manila trip.

CROWD OF 25,000

Gathered to Hear Bryan Speak in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15.—William J. Bryan, yesterday for a second time claimed the attention of the voters of Maryland. He spoke twice, the first time at Annapolis, where he discussed the issues of the campaign, and last night in this city before an audience of 25,000 people. Mr. Bryan received an ovation seldom equaled in this city.

Governor Crothers, in his brief remarks, attacked President Roosevelt and charged him with being the most extravagant executive the country ever has known.

When Mr. Bryan stepped to the front of the platform pandemonium reigned. The crowd roared in applause, cheered and waved flags, the band playing "Dixie." Upon order being restored Mr. Bryan began his remarks.

He stated with emphasis that there was nothing in the democratic platform that need alarm any legitimate interest. Among other things he said: "The democratic platform differs from the republican platform in that our party distinctly declares what it opposes and what it favors. When you read the democratic platform you know exactly what to expect for the two candidates are pledged to the platform. The republican platform is ambiguous and uncertain. When you get through reading it you are in the dark as to what the president will do."

Mr. Tatt, he said, had already amended his platform in several particulars, but no one knew what other amendments he might add before the election and what additions he might make to it after the election. When anyone came to construe the republican platform, he said, a guessing contest was entered into and no one could tell whose guess was nearest the truth. President Roosevelt, he declared, was elected upon a similar platform.

"And as his platform promises nothing in particular he felt at liberty to amend a number of the things which the republican leaders objected to."

The result was, he said, a constant conflict between the executive and congress.

Speaking of the policy of the democratic party, Mr. Bryan said that democrats believe that popular questions should be submitted to the public and that the decision of the public was binding on officials.

"As the republicans do not present specific propositions," he asserted, "a republican victory could not be construed as a declaration in favor of any particular reform or against any existing abuse."

BLOCKADED

Every Household in Lowell Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked.

Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Lowell.

Miss Addie Bickford, living at 5 Franklin Court, Lowell, Mass., says: "I had dull backaches for some time, and often suffered from pains in the region of my kidneys. The source of my annoyance, however, was the too frequent retention of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured from Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store, banished the backache and entirely rid me of the kidney difficulty. I then induced my mother to try the remedy for her back and she was gratified to find prompt relief through its use. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to several of my friends, who have used them with the same beneficial results."

THE LIQUOR LAW FOUR LIVES LOST

The Total Abstinence League Wants Change

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—As a first important step in the campaign for temperance, the Massachusetts Total Abstinence League will wage a determined fight against the present system of dividing the license fees, by which a part of the money received from the liquor dealers is turned over to the towns.

The society met yesterday to plan for the winter, and all the officers and directors of the society strongly favored an immediate change in the law in this respect. They assert that the practice of delivering a portion of the license fees to the towns is a great inducement for the towns to vote for license, and that the liquor traffic receives a strong impetus by the plan. The society believes that if the entire proceeds of the license fees were given over to the state without reservation, the blow to the liquor traffic would be heavily felt.

The issue will be brought before the legislature as soon as possible, and the league will secure the best possible matter through to a successful conclusion.

Among those present at the meeting yesterday were: Senator Proctor of Spencer, the Rev. Alfred Neen, Charles E. Demmitt and T. H. Raymond. Senator Proctor spoke of the better conditions in Worcester under no license, while the others discussed the matter of the license fees.

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Sept. 15.—Four persons have been known to be killed and 25 were injured in the wreck on the Yazoo and Mississippi railroad, two miles south of here yesterday afternoon, when two coaches of a passenger train rolled down an embankment. Two or three passengers are unaccounted for. The known dead were:

Miss Virgie Graham, Glendora, Miss.

Miss Amber Russell, 17 years, Anding, Miss.

Mr. Robert M. Gay, Glendora, Miss.

Unknown white woman.

The wreck, it is said, was caused by the expansion of the steel rails after the engine and advance cars had passed over them.

COTTON INDUSTRY

Shows Marked Improvement in New England

IN RAW MATERIAL AND FINISHED GOODS

Things of a Disquieting Nature Have Been Removed—Good Market Expected Within Next Four Weeks—Textile Machine Makers Report Improvement in Their Market

The following indications of material improvement in the New England mill situation is from "Cotton" for September and is of a decidedly encouraging nature:

During the past month there have been developments in the economic situation of the cotton industry in New England that are strongly indicative of a material improvement in the market for both raw materials and finished goods. Events of a disquieting nature that have been hanging over the industry for months have been removed, and there is a general feeling among the more conservative textile interests, that there will be a better market for goods within the next four weeks.

The auction sales of napped goods for the Nashua mills and the Arlington sale have removed an accumulation of fabrics that has caused the trade a great deal of anxiety. While it is claimed that the sale of the Nashua goods was merely to re-establish trade marks, the real facts of the case are that there was a heavy accumulation of napped fabrics that had to be moved and a sacrifice of from 10 to 60 per cent. was far more desirable than interest carrying charges. It is understood that the Nashua mills are going to clean up on certain lines of napped fabrics until conditions are materially changed.

The general market for cotton fabrics is limited to drills and wide sheetings which appear to be well taken, although at low prices. There is no buying of fabrics for the Oriental trade and our exports to South America for the past month have been at a low point and continued to lightweight drills and colored cotton goods.

The market for yarns continues in an apathetic condition and prices soft. The break in the price of cotton on the New York exchange encourages spinners to believe that yarns will be slightly lower and that buyers in the trade will have covered their contracts, because of the operations of the law of supply and demand. Manufacturers of plush, carpets and more were on holding under the market for yarns and are taking a few lots at their own prices, so yarn mills report an improvement in their market during the next few weeks and note a tendency on the part of careful mill men to purchase new machinery at prevailing prices, which are from 10 to 25 per cent. lower than one year ago. The Draper company is receiving quite a number of new orders from local mills that are making extensions to their plants. Orders that were placed a year ago and held up on delivery when the panic came are now being ordered.

The last two weeks in August and the first week in September was a general period of curtailment in New England. Fall River is running at a very low point and some of the larger mills, such as Amesbury, Everett and Lancaster are closed down for two or three weeks vacation. This curtailment will have a splendid influence sentimentally and actually, since it will bring the trade face bare shelves and no production. Not only will the curtailment have a good effect on the trade but it will stimulate labor, when the mills start up again, to a higher efficiency.

This month has been a month of correction, so to speak. Surplus goods have been marketed, curtailment put into effect and raw cotton reduced to a more favorable price from the standpoint of the consumer.

There have been a few sales of the standard textile securities this month, but in every case, with one exception, there have been advances scored in the market prices. Amesbury, which has recently reduced its dividend, actually advanced from a previous quotation made when the stock was paying nearly double the dividend that it is now. Other prime cotton mill stocks have held firm with a tendency to advance, except Dwight, which has dropped over one hundred points from its last quotation, $1150. The drop is due to the selling under pressure and not to any adverse news affecting the mill property. There are few shares in the hands of brokers and the outlook is for higher prices for cotton stocks.

IRON MARKET NOT SO BUSY AS USUAL SAYS PITTSBURGH REPORT

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15.—Business pervades the entire pig iron market. The southern producers say they have a better idea of business than any other section of the country. Inquiries for 1500 iron are being resulting in orders. Consumers believe the present low level of prices will be maintained. Producers say that conditions indicate that higher prices will come. The Empire company, operating a number of cast-iron furnaces, has advanced prices in cents per ton and asserts it has booked enough orders to make the entire output for the year. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company has set one of its furnaces in blast. The production of pig iron for August shows a gain over that of July which was greater than that of June.

The iron order placed by the Harborman yards, amounted to 1000 tons of cast-iron and 1000 tons of steel. It was a feeling off in the buying of pig and steel material. The Erie Railroad intends to expend $1,000,000 in improving its roadbed.

Steel structural contracts continue to be let, but many large ones are held up. If there is any respite, plate and bolts and bars will be included. There is no danger of a further cut in steel prices as the demand is strong.

But iron is in better demand in some parts of the country. The American Steel and Wire company's August bookings were the largest of the year, aggregating about 10,000 tons. A cut in iron pipe makers received a number of being taken for considerably more. The pipe and tube mills are working to about 75 per cent. capacity. These reports a steady stream of orders for merchant pipe. No large pipe line contracts have been let during the week.

DEMOCRATS GAINED

In the Elections Held in Maine Yesterday

The Democratic Vote Was Increased About 15,000 While the Republican Vote Fell Behind Nearly 3000 Bryan Greatly Pleased and Says Vote Seems to Indicate Great Victory in November

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 15.—The republicans carried Maine in the state election today by about 8000 votes, that being the plurality of Bert M. Fernald of Poland, the party candidate for governor, over Obadiah Gardner, of Rockland, who headed the democratic ticket.

At 11 p. m. with only less than 80 little towns and plantations to hear from, the vote stood:

Fernald 70,842; Gardner, 63,875.

The remaining communities in 1904 gave a republican plurality of about 1000 votes.

Governor Cobb's plurality in 1906 was 8044.

The republicans after a particularly strenuous campaign claimed the state by 15,000, the result of the contest was regarded by politicians as more favorable to the democrats as demonstrating that the people desired to be heard on the question of re-submission of the prohibitory law to a popular vote. This issue was the leading one in the campaign, although the republicans discussed at times national issues.

The vote was the heaviest since 1888 running well up to 140,000. The gain, however, was mainly by the democrats, the party vote increasing more than 13,000 over that of 1904 while the republican vote fell off about 2500.

Both parties, however, increased their vote over that of 1904. Mr. Fernald expressed himself last night as pleased over the result.

"Doubtless Mr. Taft's popularity helped us," he said, "to increase the vote over that of two years ago and will help us very much in November."

Mr. Gardner refused to comment on the election until he had received the full returns.

The republicans carried all four congressional districts by about the usual plurality. Amos L. Allen, being re-elected in the first, and C. B. Burleigh in the third, while John P. Swasey was chosen to succeed Charles L. Littlefield in the second and Frank G. Curney the late Llewellyn Powers in the fourth.

The two parties split even in the twenty cities, each capturing 10. The republicans, however, gained in the counties.

The next legislature will probably be republican by about the usual proportion.

The voting was particularly heavy in the rural districts, where the democrats through the popularity of Mr. Gardner among the farmers made great gains.

RESULT OF VOTE

WAS A DISAPPOINTMENT TO MANY REPUBLICANS

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 15.—Bert M. Fernald of Poland, republican, was elected governor yesterday over Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, democrat, by 7024 votes, with 51 small towns and plantations, whose total vote four years ago was 230 to be heard from. Fernald's plurality with these missing towns was estimated last night at 7000.

Fernald, 70,842; Gardner, 63,875.

The republicans also elected Charles P. Hatch of Augusta, auditor, all four congressmen, Amos L. Allen, John P. Swasey, E. C. Burleigh and Frank E. Curney; 19 out of 26 sheriffs, and the customary majority of members of the legislature.

Returns in the vote for two amendments to the constitution, giving the initiative and referendum to the people, were too meagre last night to ascertain the result.

What congressional tables were available showed that Gardner ran ahead of the party candidates in the fourth district.

The result of the vote for governor was a disappointment to many of the republican leaders, who had confidently predicted before the election a plurality of 15,000 for Fernald.

The vote was the heaviest since 1888, both parties increasing their figures of two years ago, but compared with four years ago the democrats made heavy gains, while the republicans fell a trifle behind.

The two parties split even in the 20 cities, each capturing 10.

Mr. Fernald expressed himself as pleased, while Mr. Gardner refused to accept the result until the entire vote could be tabulated.

THE DEMOCRATS

CARRIED ARKANSAS BY MAJORITY OF 50,000

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 15.—The entire democratic state ticket headed by George W. Donaghey, for governor, has been elected by a majority which will probably reach 50,000.

BRYAN PLEASED

SAYS VICTORY IN NOVEMBER SEEMS CERTAIN

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15.—When shown the Associated Press bulletins regarding the results of the Maine election, Wm. J. Bryan said:

"I am very much gratified at the returns from Maine. They indicate that the trend toward the democratic party

THE DEMOCRATS

REPORT THAT CAMPAIGN COST THEM ONLY $350

WATERVILLE, Me., Sept. 15.—Dr. E. L. Jones of this city, Maine member of the democratic national committee sent the following telegram to Chairman Mack last night:

"Republican majority in Maine less than 5000. Great victory for the people. Loss of over 20,000 for the republicans since 1904.

Total expense for our committee $350. (Signed) E. L. Jones."

KNOX COUNTY

GAVE GARDNER A VERY LARGE VOTE

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 15.—Knox county gave Obadiah Gardner a plurality of 1190. Rockland's tribute to its home candidate being a plurality of 293. Many republicans voted for Mr. Gardner whose greatest victory was in carrying ward 3, a solidly republican ward, the home of the present governor. The republicans carried but two of the 15 towns in the county and failed to elect a single state representative or senator.

SHERIFF MAYO

Was Defeated By a Plurality of 300

ELLSWORTH, Me., Sept. 15.—Sheriff Byron H. Mayo known as the democratic enforcement candidate was defeated yesterday for re-election in Lincoln county, by Forrest O. Slush of Ansonia, republican, by about 300. The democrats elected two out of eight representatives.

LATEST RETURNS

SHOW THAT GARDNER MADE EXCEPTIONAL RUN

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 15.—Revised returns for governor in the state election yesterday from 468 out of 515 cities, towns and plantations give:

Fernald (R), 72,117; Gardner (D), 64,132.

Same places in 1904 gave Cobb (R) 75,334; Davis (D) 49,416.

Remainders places in 1904 gave Cobb 1630; Davis 730.

REVISED RETURNS

SHOW NO CHANGE IN MAINE ELECTION

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 15.—Additional and revised returns made early today of the state election in Maine yesterday altered but slightly the plurality of Bert M. Fernald, the republican candidate for governor over Obadiah Gardner, the democratic ticket leader, remaining at 7024 with twenty-five small towns and twenty-six plantations to be heard from.

Missing districts were either in the northern part of the state or on the islands off the coast so that the complete poll of the vote was not expected for several days.

When it was completed it was believed today that Fernald's plurality would be found to be about 7000. The total revised vote for governor for the 468 cities, towns and plantations was:

Fernald, 72,117; Gardner, 64,132.

Remainders places in 1904 gave Cobb 1630; Davis 730.

The republicans made good gains in the rural districts and in addition gained six cities in the state which left the municipalities evenly divided between the two parties.

Returns for congress show that Gardner ran ahead of his party candidates in the four districts while Fernald fell behind. In the first district Congressman Allen was re-elected by 2000 plurality, an increase of 100 two years ago. In the third district Congressman Burleigh was re-elected also by a slightly increased plurality over that of two years ago. The two new republican congressmen Swasey and Curney were well endorsed, the former getting 1200 plurality and the latter slightly more.

The leaders of the Maine Referendum league claimed the adoption today of the two amendments to the constitution will permit the initiative and referendum, however, to very meagre and not at all decisive.

The incoming legislature will be about the same as the previous one, strongly republican in both branches.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Everyone went away from the Opera House last evening whistling or humming something. It was either "Go While the Goin's Good," "Go-a-by, John," "Because You're Young" or "Every Day is Lady's Day With Me," for there was much catchy music in "The Red Mill," which played to a large and appreciative audience and catchy music always finds a responsive chord in the hearts of a Lowell audience.

"The Red Mill" was here last season with practically the same cast and hence the play or the characters for that matter need no introduction. "The Red Mill" is an attraction that can always come back and be well received for it is a merry tune and slightly affair and that's what we all like. In Joseph Whitehead and Neil McKee, the company is headed by good first-class fun-makers who are exceptionally clever dancers into the bargain and who get in a funny little dancing stunt with in every act. They are doing something every moment they are on the stage. Their Italian organ grinder specialty and their burlesque on Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson were decided hits and two bits of widely different comedy.

Miss Sadie Kirby, the favorite of young people recalls that of Ruyper of Melodrama and the Casino company of Melodrama, was a very welcome member of the cast and her duet with Maurice Lavigne, "Because You're Young," introducing the new vaudeville and it can be said that this is a pure and refreshing. Of course it is a bit strange to see four pretty girls like their stockings off on the stage having to first release them from their "toe" caps, and with their "toe" kicking is part of the performance, but the whole is so modestly and gracefully done as to thoroughly appeal to one. Mr. Burke is an old hand but not a "has been," and you ought to see him dance. If he isn't the nimble footed master of the art that ever shook the dust on a stage it won't come your way to the present day. His impersonations of Billy Scanlon, J. J. Emmet and a host of other entertainers of another generation. An album containing pictures of the good entertainers of the olden days is opened by Mr. Burke and he speaks of the different ones lovingly. The four girls in Mr. Burke's offering are Misses Helen A. Hosco, formerly soprano soloist at St. Patrick's church, and North, soprano, and Mellic and Dagnair, mezzo contraltos. The girls sing beautifully and if there is any fault to be found it's because they don't sing enough.

Don Pullman and Edith Shayne present "Plucky" and the Dream Lady." This, too, is a decidedly novel thing and one finds in it a kind of stuff that twitches at one's heart strings. An orphan with a bunch of slangs and a tender loving little heart hits with her love is enough to break a splinter in anybody's tear channel. "Plucky" certainly does pass out the slugs but his heart is in the right place and that settles it. When he thinks anything is real good he says "It's all to the mustard," and just for that we'll say that "Plucky" and the Dream Lady is all to the mustard.

The story is a little wail for finality finds his real life in the dream that for many long nights he has dreamed of a beautiful woman just like her.

Pilson-Goldie and Lee character singers and comedians are rollicking and richly to say the least. The fun for anything and he sings a song that he whistled himself. Another member of the trio is a whistler and the best that we have heard for many a day. Another member does the fugo act in fairly good shape and as a happy combination.

Lancon-Lucier & Co., assisted by Con Conrad in a one act playlet "The Fool's Errand" is grotesquely funny. Con dances and he has a stiletto in his own and thus far no one has attempted to steal his style from him. He is certainly a funny makeup and from a halloway pumpkin lantern to an eat 'em alive bosco. "The Fool's Errand" is naturally a foolish piece but it's lots of fun. Miss Landon sings and dances and appears as an animated and toothpick. Mr. Lucier is the man behind and Conrad is a messenger boy with a bad case of the dope. Billy Van, who needs an introduction as a black face monologist, was right there with the ginger. Billy Van is in a class by himself and one could never tell in words what he does. He sings funny songs and explains peculiar situations so peculiarly that one must laugh or suffer the consequences of suppressing it.

For a musical trio we take great pleasure in presenting the Hughes. They play on xylophones, cornets, saxophones and banjos. One of them can play a violin and you just bet that he can play it too. Last night he broke a string but that didn't stop him. He strung more music out of the three players could extract from the violin.

The opening act was excellent, it being given by Bert and Rene Vodman, scope of acrobatic fun. The Hathaway couple of interesting films. Performances of the above named evening during the remainder of the week.

HATHAWAY'S THEATRE

A bill rich in entertainment and full of riches is being presented at Hathaway's theatre this week. Every feature of the bill is pleasing and while some are better than others, all are worthy of mention.

Don Burke and, as they are styled on the bill, "his select rollicking school girl," are the first attraction. This is indeed an unusual presentation for vaudeville and it can be said that this is a pure and refreshing. Of course it is a bit strange to see four pretty girls like their stockings off on the stage having to first release them from their "toe" caps, and with their "toe" kicking is part of the performance, but the whole is so modestly and gracefully done as to thoroughly appeal to one. Score of Tenement Buildings at Saco, Destroyed

Fire Swept Over 15 Acres of Lumber Yards—Blaze Started in a Pile of Shavings—Portion of the Somersville Bridge Was Burned

BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 15.—A spectacular fire which caused a property loss of $300,000 destroyed more than fifteen acres of lumber yards, more than a score of tenement buildings, several factories and some railroad property early today on both sides of the Saco river in the cities of Saco and Biddeford. A brisk wind fanned a small fire in a pile of shavings in the lumber yard of George A. Crossman & Sons on the Saco side until it reached extensive proportions, destroying a million feet of lumber in the Crossman yards and the box factory of the concern before it communicated to a small tenement district. The tinder-like formation of the roof of these houses was swept by the wind across the Saco river, alighting upon the extensive lumber yards of the Diamond Match Co. which were eventually destroyed despite the combined efforts of a bucket brigade and the fire departments of both Biddeford and Saco.

On the Biddeford side of the river after devastating the Diamond Match Co.'s lumber piles half a dozen additional houses fell prey to the flames, but no persons are known to have been burned, either in these or in the almost a score of others which were destroyed on the other side of the stream. More than forty families were rendered homeless. The fire was regarded as a dangerous one even in its early stages and help was summoned from surrounding cities and towns and these places generally responded promptly. The limited facilities of Saco and Biddeford, however, sufficed to bring the flames under control before the outside help arrived. Engines, hose wagons and companies were sent from Portland, Kennebunk, Portsmouth, N. H., Dover, N. H., Old Orchard and Sanford.

Practically all the property burned consisted of easily inflammable material which had been piled through the long-continued drought and the efforts of the united fire departments were necessary in finally subduing the flames which was not consummated until they had secured a headway of several hours and destroyed all the valuable property within reach.

A portion of the Somersville bridge which spans the Saco river between the cities of Biddeford and Saco was destroyed and interrupted to a great extent, the work of the fire companies in shifting from one scene of danger to another. The Boston & Maine railroad lost two box cars and its property which added the scene of the fire suffered considerable damage. The trains were held up for several hours and it was necessary to send those of the eastern division over the tracks of the western division by way of North Berwick to Portland.

It is estimated that the loss of George Crossman & Sons of Lynn, Mass., owners of the lumber yard and factory first consumed by the fire will amount to about $100,000, that of the Diamond Match Co. through the devastation of their great piles of lumber aggregating more than a million feet will total about $150,000, while the value of the 24 tenements which were burned is believed to be about $50,000. Other incidental losses amounted to several thousand dollars additional.

The amount of the lumber destroyed was estimated at $200,000 feet. The Crossman company lost 1,000,000 feet. The properties were well protected by insurance.

BITTEN BY DOG RODE 18 HOURS

Four Children in Fear of Rabies

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—As a result of being bitten by a mad dog that ran wild about Banks and Cowperthwaite streets, Cambridge, Saturday evening, four children of that vicinity were sent to the Pasteur Institute, New York, this morning, at the expense of the city of Cambridge, to be treated for the prevention of hydrophobia.

The children bitten by the dog are: Little Keefe, 10, of 35 Flagg street; Edward J. Fineran, 12, of 112 Banks street; Mortimer Morgan, 14, of 37 Athens street; Henry Kenny, 10, of 1 Cowperthwaite street.

The animal was at length killed by George Cronin, a teamster, living at 7 Cowperthwaite street, who used a fence picket to slay the animal. Before it died, however, it managed to inflict a wound on another dog that necessitated the second beast being shot by a patrolman.

The owner of the mad dog is not yet known. Neither had it ever been seen in the vicinity before.

That more children were not bitten seems a miracle, as the locality abounds in young people.

THE DEMOCRATS

Have Organized a Bryan and Kern Club

The first Bryan and Kern club to be organized in this city was formed last evening. A meeting of a number of prominent democrats was held in the banquet hall in Associate building at 8 o'clock last night and preliminary steps were taken which promise to materialize in a great club with organizations in each ward. Mr. Edward Gallagher of the state committee called the meeting to order and explained the object of the gathering. The work of organizing such clubs in this vicinity has been delegated to Mr. Gallagher by the national committee. Warren P. Rordan was chosen temporary chairman and John Mealey temporary secretary. Remarks were made by Hon. John E. Drury, Edward Gallagher, Thomas Fitzgerald and others.

It was decided to hold another meeting in the banquet hall, Associate building, Thursday evening at which time arrangements will be made for a smoke talk at which prominent speakers will be heard. At the meeting Thursday evening all desiring to learn the object of the club and become enrolled will be welcome.

IRISH LEAGUE

Local Branch Arranges for Boston Convention

The local branch of the United Irish league held an important meeting Sunday evening and made arrangements to have a large delegation attend the convention in Boston next week. The program mapped out for the Irish envoys, Messrs. John E. Redmond, and Joseph Devlin, from the time of their arrival in New York is as follows:

Thursday, Sept. 17—Arrival of Irish envoys, John E. Redmond, M. P., chairman Irish parliamentary party, and Joseph Devlin, M. P., West Belfast, in New York by steamship Oceanic. Evening—Reception to Irish envoys, Hoffman House, by New York council and branches, United Irish league of America.

Friday, Sept. 18—6 p. m., arrival of Messrs. Redmond and Devlin in Boston (South station); 8 p. m., greeting by Boston council and branches, United Irish league at convention headquarters, Hotel Lenox.

Redmond and Devlin, National President Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia, and other distinguished visitors.

Tuesday, September 22—11 a. m., national convention, Faneuil hall. Call to order by National President Michael J. Ryan. Prayer by His Grace, Most Rev. William H. O'Connell, archbishop of Boston. Hibbard, mayor of Boston, 8 p. m., presentation of gains to Ireland by parliamentary movement in last 25 years. Stereoscopic views by Mr. John O'Callaghan, national secretary, U. I. L.

Wednesday, September 23—10 a. m., convention re-assembles, Faneuil hall. Regular business. Addresses by Messrs. Redmond and Devlin, envoys from Ireland; 8 p. m., closing session of convention.

Thursday, Sept. 24 10 a. m., complimentary excursion and luncheon for envoys and delegates on steamer Patric, Boston harbor.

New York, Sunday, Sept. 27—8 p. m., Messrs. Redmond and Devlin address public meeting, Majestic theatre, New York.

Philadelphia, Monday, Sept. 28—8 p. m., Messrs. Redmond and Devlin address public meeting in Academy of Music, Philadelphia.

The following additional delegates were chosen Sunday evening: Miss Della Clancy, Miss Nora J. Mullane, Mrs. Kelly of Elliot street, Concord, Mass. It is expected that in addition to the lay delegates several of the local Catholic clergymen will attend as delegates-at-large, having been specially invited at the request of the local branch.

A committee of five was appointed to raise a sum of money to be presented at the convention. The committee will have to complete its work before the 25th inst.

Mr. Redmond has decided to go to Chicago and address a meeting in that city. He will then return to Ireland as it is not his intention to press the work in this country until after the presidential election. It is expected that a couple of members of parliament will then be sent out to make a tour of the United States in the interest of the Irish movement. The friends of the movement in Lowell are hopeful that John A. Muldoon, barrister at law, and member of the Irish parliamentary party, will be one of the envoys sent out here. He is a very brilliant young man and a great worker for the cause. He would get a rousing reception in Lowell where he is known personally by hundreds who knew either him or his family in Ireland and had reason to admire their sterling qualities.

There is every prospect that the convention will be a great success as delegations from nearly every state in the Union will be present.

GREAT BARBECUE

Held at Point of Pines Today

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—The formal ratification by the republicans of New England of the selection by the republican national convention of William H. Taft and James Sherman to head the ticket of the party in the forthcoming national election, was made today at a monster barbecue at the Point of Pines, at which more than 25,000 persons were present. That the meeting was representative of the republican party of all New England was evidenced by the attendance of the republican governors of four New England states. A distinguished list of speakers had been arranged to address the great gathering, including Secretary James Wilson of the department of agriculture, United States Senators Borah of Idaho and Smith of Michigan, several of the governors, and a number of the prominent members of the party in New England.

The governors and other guests of the day were entertained at breakfast by the committee in the morning and were taken to the barbecue in automobiles. The speaking exercises were arranged for the early afternoon.

REV. MR. KENNGOTT'S LECTURE

Rev. George F. Kenngott will give his third course of six illustrated lectures in the First Trinitarian Congregational church on six successive Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock, beginning October 13th. The subjects are as follows: Oct. 13, Northern Italy, including Venice, Milan, Italian Lakes; Oct. 20, Switzerland, including Zermatt, Geneva, Interlaken; Oct. 27, Switzerland, including Interlaken, Lucerne, Bern, Zurich; Nov. 3, Southern Germany, including Munich, Nuremberg, Dresden; Nov. 10, Northern Germany, including Leipzig, Berlin, Potsdam; Nov. 17, The Rhine and Paris. The lectures are the result of Mr. Kenngott's tour in 1907, and each lecture will be illustrated by about one hundred and fifty choice slides made by the best artists in Europe, some of them beautifully colored and many of them snap shots. The scenery of Northern Italy, Switzerland and Southern Germany is especially attractive. The proceeds of the lectures will be for the benefit of the church debt.

MANY GYPSIES

Come to U. S. by Way of Mexico

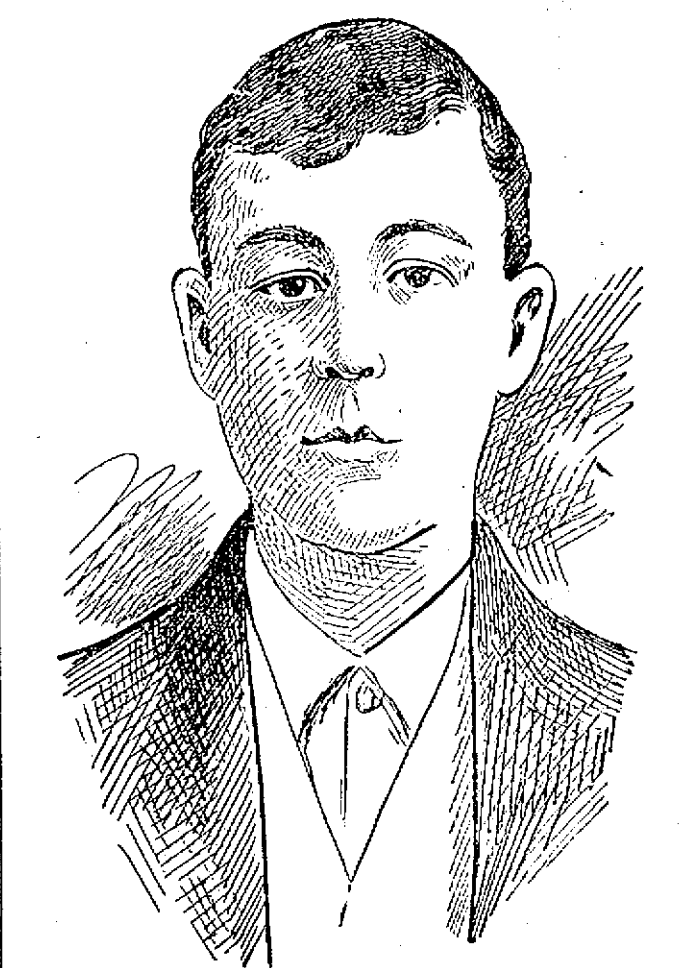

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Disclosures made by Irene F. Raduslavitch, who says she was stolen from her home by Gregory Raduslavitch, a gypsy belonging to the band which recently camped in West Roxbury, may result in wholesale deportations. Hearings on the case are now being held at the Boston immigration station, a son of Raduslavitch being before a special board yesterday.

The girl says she was taken from Russia to South Africa by her captor before entering the United States four months ago, by way of the Mexican border with a band of gypsies. She declares she was forced to beg, tell fortunes and was not properly treated. Since Irene learned from the camp in Roxbury and told her story to the police she has been held at the station at the Charles street jail where Raduslavitch is now confined under an indictment.

Yesterday's hearing developed evidence which seems to show that the entire band entered this country illegally. Raduslavitch's son was an unwilling witness. He testified that Irene is his wife and the stories she has told about being stolen are false. The girl will be brought before the board some day this week, and Raduslavitch also will be questioned.

Testimony already in the hands of the immigration officials throws new light on the customs and morals of the roving bands. Stereoscopic slides of the evidence will be forwarded to Washington, where final decision on the status of the gypsies will be made.

REWARD OFFERED

EDWARD CUNNINGHAM, EX-CONVICT, WANTED AT GUILD, N. H.

$150 for the Capture of Cunningham, Former Dracut Man

NEWPORT, N. H., Sept. 14.—Although three different persons claim that yesterday they caught sight of Edward Cunningham, the middle-aged ex-convict, from Dracut, Mass., who, Saturday night, shot Elou Stickney, no one had an opportunity or the nerve to tackle the desperate fellow and last night he was still at large, despite the fact that Sheriff E. H. King and a posse of nearly 100 armed men have been trailing him through the woods around Guild and Paradise, the latter between Guild and Sunapee station.

Sheriff King issued a circular yesterday offering a reward of $150 for the arrest of Cunningham, and that offer, together with the widespread feeling of resentment and horror at the deed of Cunningham, has inspired a good many men hereabouts to turn out and take part in the search for the fugitive. Neither the reward nor the indignation felt and expressed in connection with Cunningham has been sufficient, however, to fill all the members of the volunteer posse with that degree of valor which would lead them to get into close quarters with the desperate man, and there is much talk around the town that Cunningham could have been captured yesterday if some of those who knew of his being in Paradise had been full of courage and the fighting spirit.

Sheriff King and Chief of Police George Carr of Newport, who has been with the sheriff, were unable to get within sight of the fugitive, or he would have been brought in before night, either dead or alive. The sheriff wasn't altogether sure last night that anybody had seen Cunningham yesterday, although three persons are sure they did. The sheriff agreed with the general opinion that there are a good many superheated imaginations around this part of Sullivan county and that it may be the man that some of yesterday's identifiers say they saw around Guild and Paradise wasn't Cunningham at all.

The sheriff was of the opinion last night, however, that Cunningham is still hanging around the vicinity of his crime of Saturday night and he and even a larger posse than was out yesterday will get on the job early today, continuing the search for Cunningham in an ever widening circle drawn about the village of Guild, where Cunningham committed his latest crime, but directed especially toward the section locally known as Paradise, because it was headed toward Paradise that Cunningham was last night seen going.

This end of Sullivan county yesterday, and even last night, much resembled an armed camp, for about every man and boy who was visible on the highways or in the woods was carrying a gun and keeping a sharp lookout for Cunningham. At Frank Seavey's boarding-house, opposite the woolen mills in Guild, there is lively apprehension of the danger of Edward Cunningham returning at any moment and trying to kill Miss Sarah Seavey, the 17-year-old daughter of the family, whom he held up at the Guild railroad station with a revolver Friday noon and tried to compel to elope with him, despite the disparity between his age of 42 and hers, and the fact that Cunningham is an ex-convict with a state prison record in Massachusetts.

DEFENDANTS WIN SEARCH FOR GIRL

In Equity Case Against Who Has Been Missing Since Sunday

Franklin T. Hammond to whom was referred as auditor the bill in equity brought by Melvin T. Cobb of Boston against the directors of the Lowell Coal Co., has rendered his decision. The bill in equity was to recover balance due after a percentage paid by the common law assignees, amounting to about $20,000. The bill, brought in the supreme judicial court of Suffolk sought to charge the defendants with making a false certificate of the condition of the company May 1st, 1903. It was referred to Mr. Hammond as auditor. His report, filed under date of September 12, finds the report of the condition of the company to be true as shown by the books, and that all of the directors believed it to be a true report. He recommends judgment for the defendants.

The defendants were: Walter L. Parker, William E. Livingstone, William Livingstone, Jesse J. Smith, Arthur C. Moore and the estate of Walter P. Moore. The Lowell Trust Co. was joined as a party plaintiff.

Counsel for the plaintiff, M. P. Dickinson, Hollis B. Bailey and Norman F. Heselgrave, Burke and Corbett for Walter L. Parker, Wm. H. Best for the estate of Walter P. Moore, McEntire and Wilson for William E. and William Livingstone, Jesse J. Smith and Arthur C. Moore.

PARISH COMMITTEE

ARRANGES WHIST PARTIES FOR NEW PARISH

The parish committee of Notre Dame de Lourdes is starting out with a will to assist the new parish and has arranged for a series of whist parties to be held at the Middlesex Social club, Sept. 24-28. In connection with them a series of social contests has been started which will close on Sept. 28. One contest for the married men is for a gold watch and Messrs. Joseph Albert, David Letendre, and Charles E. Branchaud are the contestants. Another one is also for a gold watch, this time among the married women, and Mrs. Frank Lawrence, Edmond Charbon and Mrs. George Beauregard are contesting. Two popular young ladies, Miss Mathilda Poirer and Miss Mary Chagnon are competing for a diamond ring and a fourth contest, for a photograph, is causing rivalry among three bright young people, Madeline Armand Loranger and Milton Pare Wesson, and Miss Beatrice Belanger.

Anty Drudge on Education.

Katherine—"My, how provoked I am, Anty. You wouldn't dream this frock had once been white. Look at it now. I sent it to the laundress and it looks almost the color of weak coffee with milk in it."

Anty Drudge—"It's partly your fault, my dear. You're a college graduate, but you aren't educated until you know what is best for your clothes. If you had known enough to see that your white frock was washed with Fels-Naptha soap in cool or lukewarm water it would have been snowywhite. The Fels-Naptha way is the only method of washing to keep white clothes white without harming them."

Here's the easiest way that's ever been discovered to wash clothes—either in summer or winter.

For the white things: Wet the clothes, soap well with Fels-Naptha, roll and let soak for thirty minutes in cool or lukewarm water. Unroll, rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry.

That's all; no boiling, no hard rubbing, no hot water.

This simple Fels-Naptha way of washing makes your clothes sweeter, whiter, cleaner than you can get them any other way.

And the clothes last longer because they are not weakened by boiling, nor worn by hard rubbing.

Worth trying?

It is for the woman who values her clothes, her time and herself.

For washing colored clothes and other things, see plain directions on the red and green wrapper.

DOUBLE FATALITY

Two Men Suffocated to Death in Tunnel

DETROIT, Sept. 15.—The first double fatality to be charged to the construction of the Michigan Central tunnel under the Detroit river occurred early today in shaft number 4 of the Canadian approach to the tunnel when two men were suffocated to death by smoke from burning timbers and tar paper in the shaft.

The dead: W. R. Kimball, Supt. of shafts 1 and 2; Bert Johnson, a carpenter.

The fire was put out about 3 a. m. after the air pressure maintained constantly for the tunnel work had been sacrificed for the blowing out of the smoke and fumes that hindered the rescue and salvage operations. The loss will probably not exceed two thousand dollars.

About 200 men were working in the tunnel when the fire broke out. It was necessary to pass the men slowly through the air lock as they had been working under pressure. All were reported safely out of the shaft, however. Kimball and Johnson apparently lost their lives through returning into the burning shaft to look for men who might possibly have been left behind.

IRISH ATHLETE

Insane is Sent to the Poorhouse

OWOSSO, Mich., Sept. 15.—First penniless and hungry and then insane in a strange land is the hard fate that has overtaken Thomas Smiley, 27 years, a famous Irish athlete, who landed in this country from Dublin early in January. Smiley is in the Shawassaw county poorhouse where he was taken from his boarding house in this city Monday morning violently although it is hoped only temporarily insane.

For two years Smiley was full-back on the University of Dublin football team, and in both years the Irishmen won the championship of the United Kingdom at the Rugby game, defeating England, Scotland and Wales. He is in the employ of a tea firm and was working his way through college. The firm failed last winter leaving him with but little money and little resources. He came to this country searching for work and was employed irregularly in New York and Rochester. He came to Owosso two days ago on a freight, and although he had eaten nothing for 36 hours gave a marvelous display of drop-kicking at a football practice which the local Y. M. C. A. was holding. His story was learned and he was immediately provided for on the understanding that he would try for the team.

Insanity brought on by privation caused him to awaken in the night and frighten a score of other inmates of a boarding house until the police took him away. Smiley is about 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs 190 pounds.

STRONG BREEZE

INTERFERED WITH ACCURACY OF LONG DRIVES

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Save for a strong breeze which somewhat interfered with the accuracy of long drives, conditions were nearly perfect when play was resumed today in the national amateur golf championship on the Garden City links. The air was crisp and clear and the course was all that could be desired. The survivors from yesterday's play made a prompt start in the morning's 18 hole medal play. Jones and Behr were the first to tee off, the other pairs following at five minute intervals. Match play between the best two of the 32 for men who took part in the tournament began this afternoon.

Office Boy: "He said 'e had come to give you a good thrashing."
Editor: "Did he? What did you tell him?"
Office Boy: "I said I was sorry you wasn't in."

Free With It.
"Miss Suffrage has a fine mind."
"Ever sampled it?"
"What do you mean?"
"Wait till she gives you a piece of it and you will know."

Nothing to Fear.
"I think you said that he is a very brainy young man."
"Oh, yes, but he never lets that annoy people when he is in company."

Biding His Time.
"It is a shame the way she abuses him. I wonder he would stand for it."
"He has to; they are not married yet."

She Should Know.
"A man is as young as he feels and a woman as young as she looks."
"No; a woman is as young as she says she is."

Usually.
"What is dignity, anyway?"
"The demeanor a man puts on when he is obstinate and clearly in the wrong."

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

TWO OF A KIND.
Dobber—I am an artist, sir.
Bunko Bill—Shake! I sell gold bricks too.

Grounds for Suspicion.
"Look at Aunt Josephine—laughing while she's playing solitaire."
"Ah, I bet she's cheating."

Like to Be Qualified.
"I would like to be rich."
"What for?"
"So I could discourse upon the blessings of poverty."

Sometimes Helps.
"The horse won by an eyebrow."
"How could the judge make such a fine decision?"
"He had a little money bet on that horse."

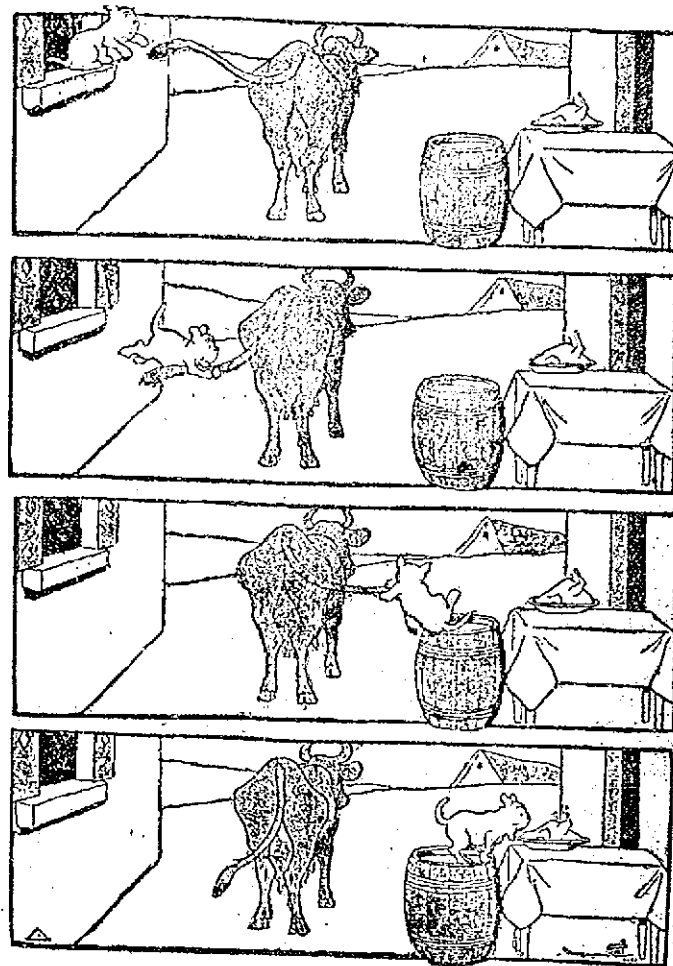

Handicapped.
"Did the poet ever find out what the wild waves were saying?"
"No; he couldn't stay long enough; board was too high."

Other Variety.
"He has gone wrong, though we thought him true as steel."
"Found him only true as steel, eh?"

Of Course.
"She talks a great deal on the subject."
"Ah, her information is limited then."

Decision.
"He is sick from eating too much spring chicken."
"Out on a fowl!"

HOW FIDO GOT THERE.

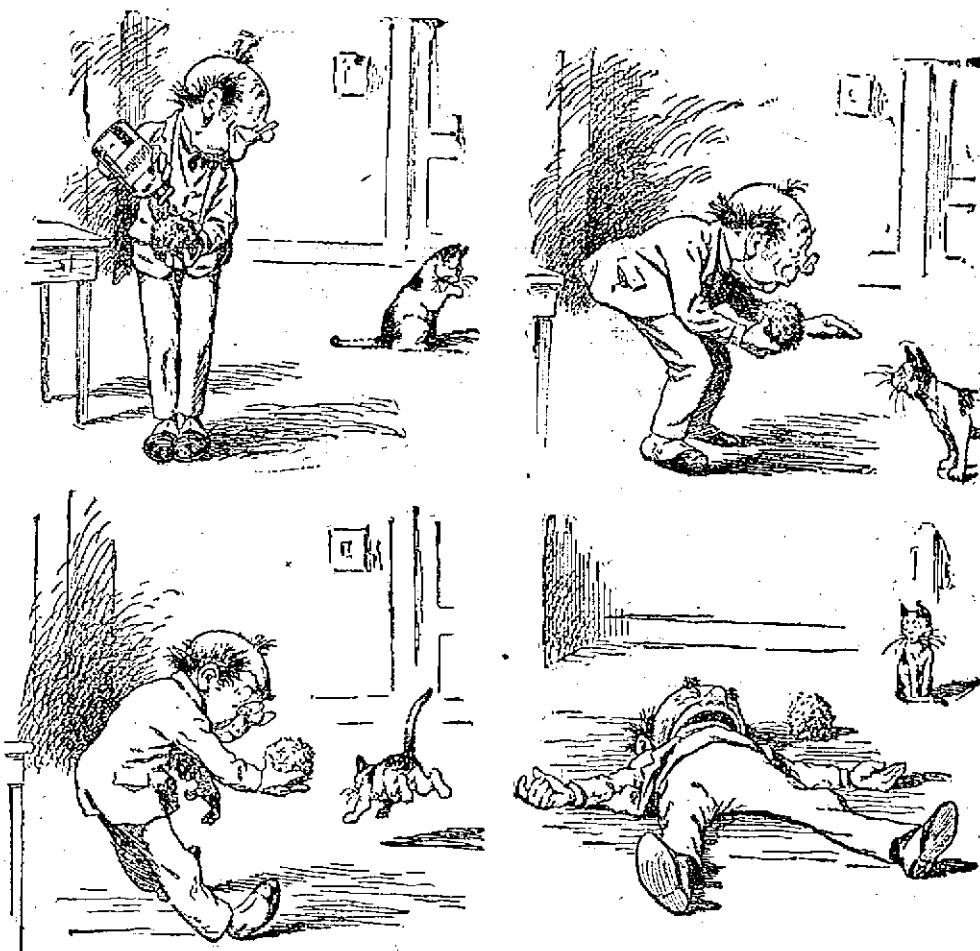

A QUESTION OF HEIGHT.

"I would look up to you all my life!"
"But I don't want to look down on you."

CHLOROFORMING THE CAT.

WELL?
Clara—One can't believe a word the men say any more.
Maud—Why not?
Clara—Well, there's Jack. He promised faithfully never to tell any one if I would permit him to kiss me just once and in less than a minute he had repeated it.

SCARED.
"Why do the young men all treat Jane so rudely?"
"The story got out that Jane said that the first man who suited her she'd propose to him on the spot."

DEFINED BY EXPERIENCE.
"Say, pa, what is pessimism?"
"My son, it is one of the results of matrimony and milliners' bills. Now don't ask any more questions."

INDISCREET.
"I do so hope you will succeed," said the motherly, warm hearted landlady.
"I am bound to," said the sanguine young inventor. "And when I do you won't see me eating at a place like this any more."
Then, in realization of the utter impossibility of fixing things, he grabbed his hat and fled.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
McJigger—Old Mr. Graybeard is forever talking about "his boy Willie." His grandson, I suppose.
Thingumbob—No; his son.
McJigger—Indeed! He's a very old man to have a young son.
Thingumbob—Huh! Willie is nearly fifty, six feet one, 210 pounds and baldheaded.

MADE HIM NERVOUS.
Ferdie—Why did you stop calling on the Mainchance girl?
Algy—Why, the whole family seemed too glad to see me.

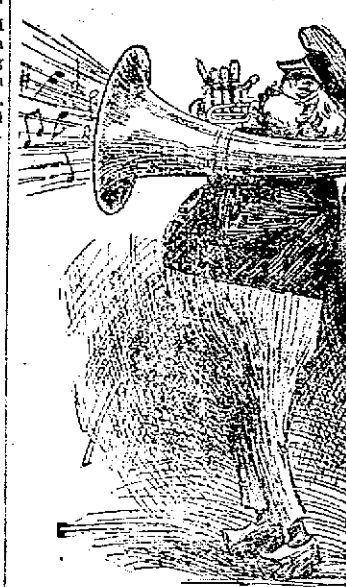

A SPIRIT-ED REQUEST.

MacTaggart (in the water): "Sandy, Sandy, a' canna swim."
MacPherson (on the boat): "Weel, can ye throw't tae me?"

HIS SALVATION.
"I wuz so low down in de finances," said the colored philosopher, "dat I wuz des erbout ter hang mysef ter a white oak limb w'en a man come 'long en paid me 10 cents what he'd been a-owin' me sence freedom broke out, en I pos'pended de occasion en quailed de rope up en went home ter supper!"

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Notes from Germany.

HER VIEW OF PROSPERITY.
Mrs. H—Aren't you happy over the improvement in your husband's business?
Mrs. D—Well, hardly. It has made it necessary for him to advertise for a stenographer.

THE MESSAGE BOY.

This message boy to please you all will do his very best.
You drop your silver in his hand And he will do the "best."

Mr. Walkfoot: "Dat wuz de mos' narrowes' escape I's had dis season!"

A PROTRACTED AFFLICTION.

Mr. Trunkford: "Did you have a long sickness?"
Mr. Overlooks: "Rather; diphtheria."

READY TO NEGOTIATE.

Her Father—You have been paying attentions to my daughter. You haven't proposed yet?
His Lordship—Not yet, sir.
Her Father—Now, let us come right down to business. What will you take not to propose?

A HOLDUP.

"Don't shoot, Mr. Burglar. I haven't got a cent!"
